NANAIMO COAL WAGE CONTRACT ATTEMPT FAILS

Negotiations Between the Western Fuel Co. and Employees End

Conciliation Board Now Preparing Report to Submit to Ottawa

Nanaimo, Nov. 23.—Negotiations between the Western Fuel Company and its employees on the question of wages and working conditions came to a deadlock this morning before the conciliation board here. The company offered to reopen negotiations with a committee of its own employees, but would not negotiate with a committee to which David Irvine, Washington union leader, who has been assisting the men's committee before the board, was included.

The committee refused to accept this offer and a deadlock ensued.

The board will now draft a report for Ottawa.

VESSELS IN REGION WHERE GILES FAILED REPORT NO SQUALLS

Wind Only Few Miles an Hour Where Pacific Aeroplane Turned Over

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—Major E. H. Bowle, forecaster of the United States weather bureau here, said today the weather conditions Captain Frederick A. Giles said he had encountered 480 miles out to sea yesterday while trying to fly from San Francisco to Honolulu were "simply impossible" and "it is not reasonable to think they could have existed."

Major E. H. Bowle said the weather charts covering the captain's course showed no abnormal atmospheric conditions existing yesterday afternoon or this morning. Ships along the Great Circle route reported calm seas and light winds, varying from six to twelve miles an hour, the major declared.

NO HEAVY WINDS

"There were no winds such as could have wrecked Captain Giles' plane," Major Bowle said. "Our ships' reported clouds in some spots, but these were as high as 2,500 feet."

"There were no indications of abnormal weather conditions along the course Captain Giles was to cover in reports received from the ships," said Major Bowle.

"Captain Giles was quoted as saying we had given him a wrong forecast," Major Bowle said. "We had made no forecast for him since last Saturday, at which time we told Captain Peterson, his flight manager, that we must decline to give the 'expedition' further forecasts because neither he nor Captain Giles seemed inclined to 'play the game with us.'"

TOOK NO CHANCES

"I mean by that with the reputation of the weather bureau at stake we could not afford to take a chance with

GAME ASSOCIATION ASKS MONEY AID

Suggestion Made B.C. Government Pay Salary and Expenses of Secretary

Vancouver, Nov. 23.—The British Columbia Game Board held two sessions in camera yesterday afternoon and evening.

While no official statement on the subjects under consideration by the board was obtainable this morning, it is understood a request of the British Columbia Fish and Game Association for financial assistance was scheduled for discussion.

At the public meeting yesterday morning representatives of the association asked that the salary of the association secretary be paid by the Government, $1,000 yearly and traveling expenses being suggested.

Chairman M. B. Jackson stated there would be difficulties in meeting the request for the reason that the Game Act did not empower the board to make direct cash contributions to any organization. He intimated, however, that if any way of compliance could be found the board would look upon the suggestion with favor as it was recognized the association was doing good work and was thoroughly co-operating with the board.

It is expected the board will give further consideration to the subject.

C.N.R. MAY LEASE MEXICAN RAILWAY

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 23.—El Continental, Spanish language newspaper here, says Sir Henry Thornton, now in Mexico City, has started negotiations with the Mexican Government in order that the Canadian National Railway may take a lease on the Ferrocarril de Terrenos, a very important Mexican railway, crossing the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, from Salina Cruz to Puerto Mexico. It is expected, El Continental states, negotiations will be successful.

Police Commissioner A. M. Aitken, the retiring member of the board, is standing again for that office. William White and Thomas Humphries have already announced their candidature for the single vacancy.

SNYDER EXECUTION IS SET FOR JANUARY

New York Woman and Henry J. Gray to Die Week of January 9

Albany, N.Y., Nov. 23.—The week beginning January 9 was fixed by the New York State Court of Appeals today for the execution in the electric chair at Sing Sing Prison of Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray for the murder of Mrs. Snyder's husband, Albert Snyder.

Under provisions of the penal law of this state executions must be carried out not less than four weeks nor more than eight weeks after the dates of the sentences. Ordinarily, the court fixes a time between the maximum and minimum times.

Clerk William J. Armstrong of the court prepared the death warrants, setting the executions for the week of January 9. These were signed by judges of the court and then forwarded to Sing Sing Prison, where Mrs. Snyder and Gray are confined in the death house.

BRITISH CAPITAL HAS A DARK DAY

London, Nov. 23.—It was black as midnight in London today. The first black fog of the winter season was hanging like a great umbrella over the city. It was not a fog, but a dense, low-lying mist, which was so thick that it cut off completely all light, and the city, with gas and electric lights in full operation, was carrying out its ordinary life without the traffic jams and confusion that are usual when fog rests on the ground.

TWO COAST VOYAGERS HAVE SERIES OF NARROW ESCAPES

Ocean Falls, B.C., Nov. 23.—To have their gasboiler engine stall, to have a narrow escape from being run down by the steamship Prince George, then to have their craft wrecked on a reef off Sunny Island, and, getting ashore, to tramp ten miles through snow and forest without food, matches or weapons to a spot where they were found lying asleep and exhausted and rescued at noon Monday by Eric Johnston were experiences of C. H. McKay and M. J. O'Connell.

The pair had set out last Friday morning from Ocean Falls for a trip, when their engine stalled after a few hours and their craft was blown off its course. They were exposed to the fury of a snowstorm during which time they just escaped being run down by the steamer Prince George, and at 2 a.m. Saturday the little vessel struck on a reef off Sunny Island.

The men scrambled on the rocks, saw their boat sink, and at ebb tide they managed to walk to shore.

Though exhausted they managed to make ten miles, and while they saw plenty of small game, they were powerless without weapons. Lack of matches made their plight worse.

Having escaped death from collision with the steamer, they then faced a similar fate from exposure, had it not been for the arrival of Eric Johnston.

The two are now safe at Ocean Falls. To-day they rested and slept.

The same storm which the pair encountered held up the steamer Prince George for five hours.

GREAT BRITAIN DECLARES FOR SMALLER NAVIES

Government Hopes Agreement on Larger Cruisers Will be Reached

Statement of Ministry's Attitude Made to Commons By Admiralty Head

London, Nov. 23.—The British Government is reluctant to lay down any more 10,000-ton cruisers at present in the hope that naval limitation may yet be reached. Hon. W. C. Bridgeman, First Lord of the Admiralty, told the House of Commons today.

Replying to a question, Mr. Bridgeman said a new situation had arisen owing to the fact that although Great Britain's proposals for limitation in the number of large 10,000-ton cruisers has not been agreed to at Geneva, the discussion had left the hope that a limitation might be reached. In this circumstance, he added, the British Government was reluctant to lay down any more of these cruisers at present.

Prairie By-election Brings Acclamation

Regina, Nov. 23.—At 1:30 a.m. to-day Progressives of Maple Creek provincial constituency decided not to place a candidate in opposition to Hon. George Spence, Liberal nominee for the by-election December 1. After a lengthy session it was decided by the seventy-five delegates present that this was not a good time to bring on an election.

Lake Ruling Favors Chicago

Charles E. Hughes Declares Water Diversion Permit of City is Valid

Washington, Nov. 23.—Chicago scored a material victory today when Charles E. Hughes submitted a report to the Supreme Court as special master in the Great Lakes diversion case in which he held that the present diversion permit issued by the United States Secretary of War was valid.

He declared the control of the diversion through the Chicago Sanitary Canal remained solely with the United States Congress, and that if a situation developed in which Chicago sought to create or continue a withdrawal of water from Lake Michigan, the diversion of Congress or administrative officers acting under its authority, the lake states would be entitled to bring a bill to restrain such action.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—Pending further information as to the finding permitting Chicago's diversion of water from Lake Michigan, Government officials here declined to make any comment.

TEACHERS LAUNCH MOVE TO SECURE PENSION SCHEME

Delegation Explains Superannuation Plan to Premier MacLean Here

British Columbia school teachers took definite steps today towards securing for themselves a concrete scheme of superannuation with a view to definite action at the next session of the Legislature.

Delegates representing the B.C. Teachers' Federation explained their views to Hon. J. D. MacLean, Premier and Minister of Education, at a lengthy private conference. W. H. Morrow, Principal of Lord Byng High School, Point Grey, and President of the Federation, G. W. Clark, of the King George High School, Vancouver, former president of the Federation, and Harry Charlesworth, Vancouver, secretary, urged upon the Minister the desirability of providing now for teachers' superannuation, which has been discussed in a preliminary way in the Legislature for some years.

Dr. MacLean, who as Minister of Education has been in close touch with the desire of the teachers, promised to discuss the superannuation proposal in detail with his Cabinet colleagues.

COOLIDGE VETOES New Presidential Boom Scheme

Washington, Nov. 23.—The first authoritative direct statement of President Coolidge's 1928 desires since the famous "I do not choose to run" edict came from the White House yesterday and it was an expression of Mr. Coolidge's desire that petitions on his behalf should be kept from circulation.

The exposition of the White House views yesterday was brought about by publication of the intention of supporters of Mr. Coolidge to start an endless chain petition urging his re-nomination by the Presidency. Mr. Coolidge believes such petitions would do no good.

Small Loot Is Taken by Thugs In Post Office

Rosedale, Fraser Valley, Nov. 23.—Bandits wrecked the safe of the post office here about 1:30 this morning, but were successful in obtaining only $80 in cash and a quantity of stamps.

Prior to the robbery the thieves broke into the Canadian National Railway Station, where they took crow-bars and other tools to use in the second attempt.

While the amount of loot obtained was small, substantial damage was done to the small frame building in which the post office is located.

CHANG PREPARING TO WAKE HIMSELF EMPEROR OF CHINA

Northern War-lord Takes Little Pains to Conceal His Next Move From World

London, Nov. 23.—A dispatch to The London Evening News from Tokyo says Japanese correspondents at Peking report Chang Tso-lin, Northern Chinese Generalissimo, is now preparing almost openly to crown himself Emperor. Coronation robes have been ordered from Soochow, where the best silk is obtainable.

The Manchurian chieftain, who heads the Northern Military Alliance, will proclaim his era "The Military Mountain Era," it is stated. He will rename China "The Mighty Expansive Empire."

The throne of China became vacant February 12, 1912, when the country became a republic, although the last Manchu emperor, Pu Yi, retained the title of Emperor of the Manchu Imperial House up to November 5, 1924.

MAYOR PENDRAY TURNS SOD FOR NEW HOSPITAL

Start Made on New Wing For St. Joseph's Hospital

Bishop O'Donnell Also Officiates at Ceremony To-day

To-day marked an epoch in the history of St. Joseph's Hospital when His Lordship Thomas O'Donnell, Bishop of Victoria, and His Worship Mayor J. Carl Pendray, in the presence of members of the board of directors, members of the medical profession and the hospital staff, turned the first sod for the new wing of the hospital.

The ceremony was short but impressive, both Bishop O'Donnell and Mayor Pendray saying a few words of congratulation to the Sisters and to all those who had made the erection of the new wing possible.

The platform, where stood the Bishop, the Mayor and C. Elwood Watkins, the architect of the new building, was covered with the flags of Canada and Great Britain and the shape of the structure was outlined with similar flags.

The proceedings were opened with a short song by the nurses, after which the Mayor and Bishop spoke, followed by the turning of the sod.

BISHOP'S ADDRESS

In his remarks Bishop O'Donnell drew attention to the length of time that St. Joseph's Hospital has been serving Victoria. From the time of the first hospital in 1875 to the present time, the hospital has been doing humane work for the people of Victoria.

Bishop O'Donnell in part said: "I congratulate the Sisters of St. Ann because of their great courage and charity. Only courage, supported by divine charity—the love of God and suffering humanity—could urge on a body of holy women to the performance of so wondrous a work as is this new hospital, at an approximate cost of $400,000."

BARROW MOVES TO SAVE ISLAND SHEEP FROM COUGAR PEST

Professional Hunters to Exterminate Animals Preying on Flocks

Cougars and bears who threaten the existence of the sheep industry of southern Vancouver Island will be systematically hunted and killed off by professional hunters employed by the Department of Agriculture, Hon. E. D. B. Brown, Minister of Agriculture, announced today after he had listened to a large delegation of sheep owners from the Metochin district.

This delegation, introduced by R. H. Pooley, M.P.P. for Esquimalt, and headed by Henry Helgeson, of Sooke, declared that unless cougars and bears were destroyed soon they would ruin the newly-developed sheep industry which is growing up west of Victoria.

Flocks are constantly menaced by marauders there, it was stated.

COUGARS ACTIVE

Five cougars were killed in one day in this part of the Island a short time ago but several of these animals are still living there and depending entirely upon sheep for their food, Mr. Barrow was told. With the bears of the neighborhood they make sheep ranching so difficult that some settlers are thinking of abandoning this business altogether.

It was explained that the Game Conservation Board does not protect sheep from cougars but concentrates its efforts on the protection of game. For this reason, the delegation urged, the Department of Agriculture should solve the problem.

Mr. Barrow emphasized that he and the Provincial Government were doing their utmost to assist the development of a big sheep industry in British Columbia. The difficulties of the Island farmers, he said, would be met with out delay with the employment of expert hunters.

Pilot Forced To Jump From Yacht Into St. Lawrence To Get Ashore At Quebec

Quebec, Nov. 23.—Pilot Lonce Gendron jumped from the New York-owned yacht Vidor yesterday when the captain would not stop the boat when he asked to be allowed to get ashore at Quebec.

Gendron, who is from Montreal, had taken off his clothes and provided himself with a lifebuoy and was picked up by a small boat and landed safely.

The Vidor recently collided with a bridge over the Lachine canal at Montreal and the resultant trouble with the authorities led to difficulties in having the yacht cleared from Montreal.

Gendron was fearful that if he should stop at the port of Quebec he would be again detained by the authorities. Gendron stated he had summoned the captain three times to stop the vessel, but that the captain maintained he was master on board.

LAW PARTNERS LITIGANTS IN COURT ACTION

Accounting Sought by W. A. Brethour of Brethour and Taylor

Differences between former law partners on the division of counsel and solicitor fees and office expenses were aired before Mr. Justice Morrison in the Supreme Court today with the opening of the action of Wesley A. Brethour against W. J. Taylor, K.C., for the taking of a partnership account of the former firm of Taylor and Brethour.

H. A. Maclean, K.C., with Hugh A. Maclean, appears for Mr. Brethour and R. C. Lowe for Mr. Taylor.

The partnership between the two was dissolved in June of this year. Both parties, Mr. Maclean said in opening, were willing to have the accounts referred to the registrar. The trial judge would be asked to rule on the terms of partnership.

Mr. Brethour, giving evidence, said he was admitted to the bar in January, 1918, studying with the firm of Eberts and Taylor before being admitted. In the beginning of year 1919 he went into partnership with Mr. Taylor and it was decided Mr. Taylor should take all counsel fees and pay the office expenses and witness should take the solicitor fees.

Vancouver, Nov. 23.—Claiming 375 cases of the liquor seized by Vancouver dry squad officers Monday night were in the warehouse of the Scottish-Canadian Exporters Limited & Hamilton Street, on consignment, the B.C. Distilleries Limited has made an appeal to police headquarters.

Arrangements are being made to transfer the entire contents of the warehouse to police headquarters until the claim of the B.C. Distilleries Limited is dealt with.

London, Ont., Nov. 23.—Six women passengers were injured, one believed seriously, when a large passenger bus, travelling west on the Ontario Provincial Highway one-half mile west of Wardville, was hurled to the bottom of a twenty-foot embankment after crashing almost broadside into a heavy eastbound transport truck last night.

Russell Litt of London, driver of the bus, was held by police on a charge of reckless driving. Bail was denied.

Mrs. Robert Clark of Saskatchewan was among those injured. She was completing the last lap of a journey from the Far West to the bedside of her mother, who lies critically ill at her home in Chatham, Ontario.

Washington, Nov. 23 (Canadian Press).—Premier King of Canada was the guest of honor to-day at a White House luncheon.

Frank B. Kellogg, United States Secretary of State; Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister to the United States; Dwight Davis, United States Secretary of War; Herbert Hoover, United States Secretary of Commerce; Assistant Secretary Castle of the State Department, and Col. Winslow and Capt. Brown, President Coolidge's military and naval aides attended the presidential luncheon.

The newspapers to-day gave a friendly and flattering welcome to the Canadian Premier, commenting editorially on the steady growth of good feeling between Canada and the United States.

Premier King spent this morning at the Canadian Legation, renewing acquaintance with members of the staff. This afternoon Mr. King met John A. Maclean, Minister of Finance, and later dined at the Canadian Legation. For the occasion Hon. Vincent Massey and Mrs. Massey had invited a party of thirty representatives of official life in Washington.

Washington, Nov. 23 (Canadian Press).—Commenting editorially on the visit of Premier King of Canada, to this city, The Washington Post says:

"The Prime Minister of Canada is a most welcome visitor to Washington. Americans are pleased to do him honor and through him to honor his country. They have noted his remarkable record in political power and have highly appreciated his statesmanlike attitude toward all questions affecting the two nations. They are especially gratified by his repeated expressions of cordiality toward both the Government and people of the United States."

"Mr. Mackenzie King has before him the prospect of a career pregnant with great accomplishments, partly because of his own qualities and partly because of the influence of the Canadian Government is under his direction. He has a field of unrivaled extent and variety in which to exercise his powers. 'Canada's natural resources, both in character and volume, subject as they are to development by free and active people, stamp that country as destined to stand in the first rank of nations. It is born to greatness.'"

When Premier King stands firmly upon the rock of Canadian nationality and takes care to protect Canada's interests in all negotiations, he earns and receives the respect and confidence of the United States. If by good fortune and happy accident, an astute in character and volume, subject as they are to development by free and active people, stamp that country as destined to stand in the first rank of nations. It is born to greatness."

NOTARIES APPEAR SURE OF GETTING BACK THEIR SEALS

Legislature Expected to Give Them New Chance to Register

Notaries public who lost their notary seals this year as a result of their failure to register under new regulations, are virtually assured of being placed on the notary roll again at the coming session of the Legislature. Peace in the long war between notaries and lawyers, which stirred the House for several sessions, thus appears to be in sight again at last.

A petition from all notaries who failed to register and were removed from the roll will be filled with the Legislature early in its session or with Attorney-General Manson in advance. Being powerless to assist them without legislation, the Government has encouraged this submission of a petition outlining the views of the former notaries. It is considered quite possible that the Government itself will introduce the legislation necessary to restore the cancelled notary seals, but if this is not done private members will sponsor the required amendment to the Notaries Act. This will give the notaries another opportunity to register and be restored to their old standing. No serious opposition to such a bill is anticipated here.

PLANS FOR PRAIRIE RAILWAY ARE STUDIED

Believed Full Agreement on Flin Flon Development Scheme is Near

Winnipeg, Nov. 23.—The following special dispatch from Ottawa was given prominence in The Winnipeg Free Press yesterday:

"One last difficulty remains to be overcome before the various agreements in regard to the development of the Flin Flon and the White Mud Falls areas are entered into and confirmed by order-in-council.

"This difficulty lies in the fact that about three-fourths of the ore body comprising the Flin Flon mine lies within the province of Saskatchewan, although the mine pit will be in Manitoba, and that the consent of Premier Gardiner must be obtained to the remission of royalties for twenty years. Premier Bracken already has assented to it, and on Monday the Federal Ministers who are working on the project realized Mr. Gardiner also came into the picture. Telegrams have been sent to Regina placing the situation before the Premier of Saskatchewan, and the Government is now awaiting reply.

"In regard to construction of the railway, Hon. C. A. Dunning has not yet heard from the Canadian National Railways. No insurmountable difficulties, however, should arise there. As Mr. Dunning stated Monday, it is not an easy matter to build the necessary line of railway within twelve months, but the management of the National system is certain a way will be found.

"Mr. Dunning also has sent messages to Mr. Gardiner strongly urging Saskatchewan consent to the remission of royalties.

"Considering all angles of the proposals, it is now thought the agreements will be completed and the whole business wound up within a few days."

POLICE MAKE GAINS IN CHICAGO'S WAR

One Gangster Killed; Number in Custody; Police Armored Cars Scour Streets

Chicago, Nov. 23.—The police of Chicago scored first yesterday in the grim war to the death between rival gangsters for control of gambling and bootlegging privileges. One gangster was dead from a police bullet, thirteen others alleged by the police to be implicated in plots to kill their rivals faced charges ranging from disorderly conduct to conspiracy to commit murder, and police squads with machine guns in armored automobiles searched for new gangsters to conquer.

Even "Scarface" Al Capone, one of the few gang leaders to escape death in the gang war of extermination two years ago, and the object of an assassination plot in the present feud, did not escape the authorities.

In immaculately groomed, even to spats and a cane, the youthful Capone, surrounded by bodyguards, appeared in police court yesterday and answered a charge of disorderly conduct, which was dismissed. Thirteen still surrounded by his lieutenants, he was whisked away to his hotel, which virtually has been transferred into an armed fortress.

Shortly after Capone's trip to court one of his enemies, Joseph Aiello, was released on bond and started for his home, trembling for his life after being refused a police escort.

NO TRUCE ALLOWED

Shortly before he was released police heard Aiello converse with members of Capone's gang, arrested Monday when they were found carrying weapons, confined in cells near him. He offered to see "out of Chicago" two weeks if a truce was declared, but was turned down.

"You started this and we're going to finish it," police said. Capone's men told Aiello, who, with his two brothers, is blamed by Capone for the plot to assassinate him, discovered a few days ago when a downtown hotel room across from a cigar store Capone visited frequently revealed shotguns trained on the shop.

The body of Herbert, brother of "Big Earl" Herbert, bodyguard of Joe Salta, South Side gangster recently acquitted of murder was found in a doorway on the South Side where he had died after being shot by a police squad, summoned by a saloon keeper, who said Herbert and a companion had threatened him when he refused to buy Salta's beer.

Canada Shares In the Discussion of Disarmament

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—Senator Dandurand will represent Canada at the meeting in Geneva on November 30 of the preparatory commission which is arranging for the world disarmament conference.

This is the first occasion on which Canada has been represented on the commission. Each state represented in the Council of the League of Nations is entitled to nominate a representative on the commission.

It is proposed at a later stage of the discussion to add technical representatives. When that stage is reached it is probable representatives will go to Geneva from the Canadian Department of defence.

Dr. W. A. Riddell, resident representative in Geneva of the Canadian Government, will be associated with Senator Dandurand.

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—Use of substitutes for United States anthracite coal is growing in Ontario and Quebec. Hon. Charles Stewart, Federal Minister of Mines, says 1,500,000 tons of such substitutes will be used in the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence region this present season. In 1923 the aggregate tonnage of anthracite substitutes used in Quebec and Ontario was 600,000 tons. The increase is largely attributed to the use of coke.

Albert coal, low volatile bituminous coals, British anthracite and by-products of coke are the four most popular substitutes for United States anthracite.

SCHOOL METHODS IN ONTARIO DISCUSSED

Toronto, Nov. 23.—The current issue of The Sentinel, official organ of the Orange Order in Canada, publishes the findings of the legislation committee of the Orange Order on the recent changes in the Ontario school regulations and expresses disappointment over these changes, particularly in the wiping out of Regulation 17, which introduced English-French schools into the province.

The Sentinel records that the legislation committee of the order in Ontario East and Ontario West met November 18 and after a full discussion unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"This committee is profoundly disappointed at the failure of successive governments effectively to enforce Regulation 17, which the people of Ontario were led to believe would solve the problem of bilingualism in the schools of the province.

"Further, we are of the opinion an amendment should be made to the Municipal Act to prevent schools which are found to be violating the school laws receiving any funds derived from municipal taxation.

LANGUAGE QUESTION

"We further declare ourselves unalterably of the opinion that we, as an association, have always held that the English language should be the language of communication and instruction in the schools of Ontario, which is our objective.

"And we demand that a further investigation of the condition in the primary schools of the province should be held within a reasonable time—say five years."

Reporting the meeting of November 18, The Sentinel refers to the attendance of Premier Howard Ferguson, who as Ontario Minister of Education gave his reasons for changing the method of dealing with schools in which French is taught. The Premier was in conference with the committee for two hours.

Soviet Warships In the Black Sea

Bucharest, Nov. 23.—The reported sudden appearance in the Black Sea of several Soviet war vessels has pushed politics off the front page of the Roumanian newspapers and caused what appeared a real scare throughout the country.

For several days Soviet ships have been reported to be patrolling the routes usually followed by Roumanian and foreign mail and passenger steamers, causing the Roumanian Admiralty to arm all its larger vessels. The purpose of the Soviet vessels is said to be to capture all vessels formerly belonging to the White Russian Wrangel fleet, but no Roumanian vessels are taking chances.

Winnipeg, Nov. 23.—The body of George McKay, forty-five, was found in a house here yesterday. He was last seen alive at 8 o'clock Monday night. Police are investigating the cause of the death. He is survived by wife and eight children whose ages range from one to ten years.

Physicians Seek Change in Rules

London, Nov. 23 (Canadian Press Cable).—Presiding at the opening session of the General Medical Council here yesterday, Sir Donald Macalister, president of the council and principal and vice-chancellor of Glasgow University, said the council's executive committee had received communications through the British Privy Council from Quebec, Ontario and New Zealand indicating a disposition in those parts of the Empire to withdraw from the practitioners registered in the Medical Register the privilege hitherto accorded them of practicing within those respective territories by virtue of reciprocal agreements made by order-in-council. The ground for withdrawal seemed to be a desire to protect certain professional interests.

If no modification of the views of these provincial authorities could be brought about, the Privy Council, said Sir Donald, must consider whether the privileges granted by this country to the practitioners from those parts of the Empire now registrable on the overseas lists of the register could justly be continued.

Longer Terms For Mexico Presidents

Mexico City, Nov. 23.—A bill extending the term of the President from four to six years has been passed by the Mexican Chamber of Deputies. The bill does not apply in the case of President Calles, but would apply to his successors.

Care of Babies

Why do so many, many babies of today escape all the little fretful spells and infantile ailments that used to worry mothers through the day, and keep them up half the night?

If you don't know the answer, you haven't discovered pure, harmless Castoria. It is sweet to the taste, and sweet in the little stomach. And its gentle influence seems felt all through the tiny system. Not even a distasteful dose of castor oil does so much good. And it is so pleasant to take. Taste it yourself, and you'll know why "Children Cry for It."

Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable, so you may give it freely, at first sign of colic, or when you ever suspect the approach of constipation, or diarrhea. Or those many times when your just-don't-know-what-to-do matter. For real sickness, call the doctor, always. At other times, a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria. See how quickly the fretfulness or wakefulness will cease!

Only one word of warning: the above advice is true of genuine Castoria. The kind called Fletcher's, bearing Fletcher's signature—is genuine—and does not contain opiates or any other drug that can harm your baby. Other preparations may be just as free from harm; the writer does not know as to that, but does know one family whose children will never make the experiment!

"SPECIAL NOTE: With every bottle of genuine Fletcher's Castoria is wrapped a book on 'Care and Feeding of Babies' worth its weight in gold to every mother or prospective mother.

River Dyke Plan Subject of Debate

Boise, Idaho, Nov. 23.—George N. Carter, commissioner of reclamation announced yesterday he would attend the hearing of the international joint commission at Nelson, B.C. November 29, on the application of the Creston Reclamation Company to dike the Kootenay River.

Idaho is opposed to any project on the Kootenay River, which would increase the flood level of the river in this state. Residents of the Kootenay Valley in Boundary County, Idaho, believe the construction of dikes would increase the flood hazard and Commissioner Carter was requested by the Kootenay Valley Commercial Club to attend the hearing.

The institute decided to appeal to the Government for higher salaries.

EXPLOSION INQUIRY ENDS

Lethbridge, Nov. 23.—The judicial inquiry into the cause of the explosion at the McGillivray Creek mine on November 23, 1926, which snuffed out the lives of ten men, was concluded at Coleman yesterday, and Chief Justice Harvey stated his report would be made to the Provincial Government as soon as possible. Dr. McIntyre of the Federal mines branch, on the stand, made the statement that in his opinion the explosion was one of those things which sometimes happened in the mining industry, which could not be explained and that no one was to blame.

AIR LEAGUE FORMED

Halifax, Nov. 23.—A provincial air league has been organized here, having as its aim the organization of provincial airways with airports, flying fields, aerodromes and planes at various points throughout Nova Scotia. GO NORTH, YOUNG MAN

MANY YEARS AGO HORACE GREELEY told the young men of the eastern United States to go west. Thousands of them came west, built railways, established great industries and founded substantial cities. It was good advice. Many made fortunes. What has gone on in the United States has gone on in Canada in a less intensive fashion; our west has come into its own. A fine system of highways and railways now is available, large industrial plants have been founded, thriving cities mark the landscape, and many a pioneer is glad that he came over the Rocky Mountains into British Columbia. As the years go by the settled areas will be developed; thousands of people will come and make use of the manifold advantages which await them. But the north still is a great and almost untouched storehouse of wealth whose door may be opened by the young Canadian who is made of the right stuff. Advice to him is given by Mr. Pattullo, British Columbia's Minister of Lands, who tells him to go north and do there what the young man who came west did on the advice of Horace Greeley.

In his address to the Kiwanis Club yesterday Mr. Pattullo said it was an insult to the intelligence, initiative, ingenuity, and application of the young men of British Columbia to say they can not go out and make a living in this Province which so richly abounds in natural resources. He is quite right. No young man healthy in mind and robust in body would challenge the statement. No doubt many would rather take up a ready-made job in the circumscribed field of keen competition than go into virgin territory and make a job for themselves which eventually would insure them a competence. But as these young men gradually realize what opportunities await them in this Province, with agricultural and industrial possibilities the development of which would furnish a living for two hundred times our present population, more will take Mr. Pattullo's advice. If they do not, enterprising young men from the neighboring republic, already growing irksome under conditions of work and living that are no match for virgin territory abounding in natural wealth, will cross the border and go north themselves. Much can be done by our public men and educationists to interest the youth of British Columbia in the advantages our Province offers. In the last analysis, of course, it is the human element that counts, and we venture to believe that we still have plenty of young men of the right sort.

VANCOUVER CITY COUNCIL'S DILEMMA

FOURTEEN INMATES OF THE OLD Age Pension cheques for the months of September and October; but The Vancouver Daily Province is advised that they are not to have the spending of the money received. On the contrary, they are to be allowed two dollars a month out of the full allowance of twenty dollars for "tobacco and other luxuries," the other luxuries being unmentioned.

Our contemporary points out that if the City Council takes eighteen dollars a month from each Old Age Pension cheque, presumably in return for keep at the Home, it will be damned by every person who understands something of the disappointment which such a course will mean to the pensioners. On the other hand, it says the Council will be damned by many taxpayers if it errs on the side of kindness and takes none of the pension money.

Vancouver conducts its own civic business and wants no advice from The Victoria Daily Times; but we shall hazard the guess that if its Municipal Council takes the bit in its teeth and allows these fourteen pensioners their full allowance to use with discretion, it will be condemned much less severely than it would be if it blasted the hopes which these old people have been cherishing for months.

NO REAL VICTORY IN WAR

WHEN NORMAN ANGELL PUBLISHED "The Great Illusion" he was called all sorts of names and told that he was figuratively talking through his hat. One of the statements he made was that it might be impossible for any great nation or group of nations to win a war in the economic sense even though victorious in the field or on the sea. He pointed out that the whole structure of international finance was too involved and complicated to withstand successfully such a dislocation as an international conflict on the grand scale would occasion.

Since this book was first published the Great War has been fought and nine years have elapsed since the last shot was fired in that conflict. How far was Mr. Angell wrong in his theories? The present financial relations between the principal victorious nations and the principal vanquished nations help to supply one answer. The victors actually have had to lend money to Germany in order to enable her to pay a comparatively small fraction of the reparations which the Treaty of Versailles was to exact from her. In many respects she is decidedly better off in the economic sense than several of the Allied countries: Great Britain's debt at the present time is approximately $40,000,000,000 and she has entered into an engagement with the United States to repay that country a loan of something like $5,000,000,000 which she negotiated in behalf of her Allies. It will take her sixty-three years to do it, and she does not propose to accept any more from her Allies than may be necessary to meet the American bill. That is to say, such loans as she made to them before she found it necessary to draw upon the resources of the United States are, to all intents and purposes, wiped out. The financial crises through which Belgium, France and Italy already have gone, of course, are well remembered. Neither country yet is out of the financial wood by any manner of means.

Sir George Paish's warning to the United States, moreover—to which we referred yesterday—is an indication of what still may be in store for that most wealthy of all the nations of the world unless different tactics shall be employed. Our neighbor is the great creditor nation with more money than she knows what to do with. When the noise of battle ceased she found her coffers bulging with gold and it was not long before she began to suffer from financial indigestion. She quickly got rid of much of this surplus in the shape of loans to many of the countries of Europe. They needed the money in order that they might get on with their financial rehabilitation and so repair the damage which had been done to the economic structure by the war. That was a sound policy; but lending money and getting it back are two different things. Our neighbor began her task but refuses to finish it and the danger of that course is clear to the eminent economist to whom we have referred. In other words, the United States has loaned many millions of dollars to Europe since the end of the war; but she is buying nothing like enough of the products of these countries to enable them to repay their loans. Her high tariff, of course, is the chief stumbling block to the European exporter; but the restriction upon trading which this imposes also strikes at the economic structure of the republic. As Sir George Paish has pointed out, the agricultural industry of the United States already is unable to meet its liabilities, while the curtailment of the European demand for the products of the American farmer and manufacturer, caused primarily by inadequate buying by American importers, must react more seriously on the creditor than upon the debtor.

It will thus be seen that Mr. Angell's contention in regard to the impossibility of economic victory in international conflict already has been largely supported by the facts of the present situation. As an aftermath of the war, the nations of the world, those that were directly involved in it and those that were not, are obliged to co-operate and make heroic efforts to repair the economic damage and adjust their trading relations.

A HOHENZOLLERN VIEW

IN AN INTERVIEW RECENTLY THE former German Crown Prince said that "war is meat and drink to me; but in spite of this I am of the opinion that war is a catastrophe, except when the assertion of the power of one nation can better the world."

What the former Kaiser's eldest son says about war or anything else at this stage will make very little difference to the course of events in the world. Most people realize that there is no exception. War always was and always will be a catastrophe. The world should insist that all those people to whom war is "meat and drink" are effectively outnumbered and subdued.

It also is well known that when war is "meat and drink" to any man, he can always persuade himself that a victory for his nation will "better the world."

There were many breaks in Ur's history from the remotest times to the early beginning of the Christian era, so little is known of its people, but this mound gives some of the archaeological details of their civilization.

SAMUEL HEARNE

Q. Who was Samuel Hearne?

A. Samuel Hearne was one of the pioneer explorers of the far Canadian north and west. He led an expedition in 1771-2 from Hudson Bay to Great Slave Lake in search of copper used by the Indians. He finally reached the Arctic Ocean at the mouth of the Coppermine River and on his return made a wide detour to the south during which he discovered Great Slave Lake and many other large bodies of water and mapped them.

NEW LAW FOR PHYSICIANS

LONDON, Nov. 23.—First reading was given in the House of Commons yesterday to a bill introduced by Dr. H. G. Graham-Little, providing that certain communications between medical practitioners and their patients should be privileged from disclosure in evidence in courts of law. Dr. Little explained the bill by saying that it was a result of a recent decision by Mr. Justice McCarthy in certain cases courts could compel physicians to state the exact nature of the diseases from which their patients were suffering.

THE DERBY RACE

To the Editor.—On the front page of your issue of the 18th inst. appeared a Canadian Press Cable dispatch headed Derby, Eng., November 18, the caption to which read: Derby race today won, etc.

Presumably this dispatch would come through to you with other material and in dividing this up into its component parts for the various articles embraced therein, the heading given to the article in question must have been a pure assumption on your part.

The "Derby" race is not run at Derby and never has been.

Derby is the county town of Derbyshire, Eng., the birthplace and early home (Hartington) of our late Premier, Mr. John Oliver—better remembered as "Honest John."

Derby is about the last place in England at which one might expect a great horse race to be staged. It is a very quiet, old-fashioned, conservative town. The home town of J. H. Thomas, famous trades union leader.

Derby is much like Victoria in some respects, but being being in the centre of England is about as far removed from salt water as one can get over there. It is a garden city in its residential quarters, and surrounded by most beautiful and picturesque scenery in the adjacent country. It can boast, however, of having solved its industrial problem long ago.

Derby is the direct pivot of the great Midland Railway system, the workshops of which employ, fairly steadily, about 10,000 hands. But Derby is, perhaps, most famous throughout the world for the Royal Crown Derby porcelain, exquisite examples of which can occasionally be seen here in Messrs. Werby's emporium, and also other's windows.

Derby has also a well-developed textile industry, being the first place in England at which a silk mill became successfully established (in 1718). There are also cotton lace, elastic web and coarse woven manufactures. Extensive engineering and iron works in the town.

The Royal Crown Derby works were established about the middle of the eighteenth century.

There are also several shot towers for making shot by dropping molten lead down high chimneys—just like factory chimneys outside. Paper mills and a very interesting and artistic manufacture of objects d'art from flint—spar found in the country and obtained in open quarries—going on within the mountain limestone formation underlying the main part of the country.

So much for the town of Derby, or Derby, as we love to call it!

The Derby race, is and always has been, run at Epsom. Epsom is on the edge of the Surrey Downs, sixteen miles southwest of London.

The breezy downs (then called Bantled), had been long used for horse racing, when Edward, twelfth Earl of Derby, founded the Oaks in 1779, so named from his hunting seat, and the Derby in 1780. Full particulars of the latter race (from 1780 to 1882) of the latter race can be got in Whitaker's Almanac, 1931 edition.

The distance of the course to-day is exactly one mile four furlongs, twenty-nine yards having been taken from its former length of one mile and a half by rounding off the famous Tattenham corner.

Lady James Douglas was the first lady to win the Derby.

There is, perhaps, little else going on at Epsom than racing and betting, breeding and training and stabling. So you will see, sir, how very much astray you or your Canadian cable agency were in heading the report of the race run last Friday, Derby.

We out here in Canada, whether east or west, should be possessed of a fairly accurate sense of all these things.

The magnitudes and minutiae of British—that great heart and solar-plexus of our Empire—should be of immense interest to us and must determine in an important degree the measure of our culture and education.

It belongs to our daily newspapers, pre-eminently to impart this currently from day-to-day as it turns up with the greatest accuracy possible, and from as far as possible an informative and educative standpoint.

Nothing is gained, but something is lost of importance to us by belittling the necessity for a fairly current estimate and understanding of the position and relation of things within the British Isles on the part of overseas members of the family.

Not that I would tax your invaluable and much appreciated paper with any delinquency severe in this respect; but there is a spirit abroad in the land which does so.

It is a true sense of position, proportion, and reality which is, or may become, lost.

We do not wish any of us to become like those Americans of a by-gone generation, who, through their up-bringing and education, concluded that they were about "let only people on the beach."

One notices, or has noticed, a superabundance of Americans or United States news items in our local press. We wish to know, and ought to know, how they are going on down there, and must be kept in touch, but in respect of the rate of small, inconsequential news items about somebody's cat or dog in Georgia or Alabama, I don't think it is needed.

For all the years that have elapsed since I left the Old Sod I have kept regularly in touch with two or three standard English dailies, and I find that I have to I frequently see important Canadian news there which I never see in any of our own papers. Eastern news, for instance. There is going on, right now, in the province of Quebec, the heaviest capitalized single development (one hundred million sterling) ever promoted in the Dominion. I have seen anything about it in our western press.

Mr. Editor, would it be asking too much for you to take one sheet, say, of your paper, sectionally it according to the provinces and Newfoundland, and give us the news of each regularly? If the unnecessary and inconsequential part of the United States news was deleted from your paper, there would be plenty of room.

J. STAFFORD.

Nov. 20, 1927.

[Editor's note.—(1) The news dispatch as published in The Times, to which our correspondent refers was entirely correct. The fact it reported was run at Derby. The dispatch was sent to Canada from Derby by telegraph and cable, and was received by The Times a very short time after the race was over. As most people in Canada familiar with racing in England are aware, the great Derby event is run at Epsom. (2) The investment of a large amount of British capital in Quebec—actually in the Lake St. John region—was reported in the Victoria newspapers at considerable length. It was commented upon editorially in The Times. (3) The average Canadian newspaper gives more space to news from the Old Country in one month than the average British newspaper gives to news from Canada in one year. (4) The average newspaper in the Old Country gives more space to news from the United States or Continental Europe than it does to news from Canada in a year.]

LAND IS SURVEYED
ALONG THE HUDSON
BAY RAILWAY ROUTE

Hon. Charles Stewart Tells of Progress Made With Settlement Plans

Ottawa, Nov. 23.—Homesteading facilities in the territory adjacent to the Hudson Bay Railway and the progress of the surveys in that country were outlined to-day by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior and Mines, who said:

"From time to time during the past few years various officers of both the departments over which I preside have made investigations into the land surveys in the territory adjacent to the Hudson Bay Railway route. Lands immediately adjacent to the railway from the Pass to Mile 221 have already been surveyed into quarter-sections and are now open for homestead entry. Information respecting them may be obtained by prospective settlers from the Dominion Lands agent at Dauphin, Man., or from other offices of the Department of the Interior.

MAPPING WORK DONE

"Data of considerable worth has been secured regarding the location, extent and value of agricultural lands, forest, water powers and minerals. Land and aerial surveys have been projected over much of the region and active progress has been made in mapping the area.

"The work of assembling and compiling the results of these field investigations is already under way. In addition to the maps, maps are being dealing with specific resources and areas, it is my intention to have issued a general information and economic report in popular language for distribution to the public in order that it may be as comprehensive and up to date as possible, its completion will be timed to take immediate advantage of the forthcoming session's field investigations.

AERIAL SURVEYS

"These will include additional aerial surveys along the new location of the railway from Nelson River to Fort Churchill, supplemented by much ground investigations as may be necessary for determining the location, extent and value of clay belts and timber resources. Additional land surveys will be made."

SICK STOMACH

Suffered Agony for Ten Years

Tanlac Brought Relief

Few people are so fortunate as to escape an occasional attack of indigestion with nausea and headaches. But what must it mean to suffer for ten long years with a gnawing pain in the stomach and be compelled to live on dry toast. This was the experience of Mrs. Mary Bond, 23 Main St., East View, Ont. "The minute any food entered my stomach," Mrs. Bond writes, "I would have terrible pains that I could hardly move. Even sweet milk disagreed with me and I didn't dare eat any meat. Although I had doctors and took all kinds of medicine, I had never been able to find anything to help me until a boarder recommended Tanlac. I have now taken five bottles of Tanlac, and am delighted with the way it has helped me. I am feeling world's better—have a good appetite—whatever I eat now agrees with me—and I never have pain or indigestion. You can imagine how good I felt when I ate a nice bit of steak and didn't have a bit of trouble afterwards, after having lived on dry toast for almost a year."

If you are bothered with Stomach Trouble, don't delay. Get Tanlac at your druggist to-day. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

Tanlac brings relief. It helps you digest food, food, and it increases in weight. Made of roots, barks and herbs—nature's own medicine for the sick. Get a bottle from your druggist to-day. Your money back if it doesn't help you. (Adv.)

ways will be made in any areas that are found suitable for immediate settlement and generally such activities will be undertaken as will enable the Government to cope adequately with any development and completion of the railway may bring about."

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Victoria Poultry Association will meet this evening in Y.M.C.A. to make final arrangements for the show to be held December 14, 15 and 16.

The board of appeal in zoning cases will meet at the office of the building inspector, City Hall, at 4.30 p.m. Friday to hear two requests for adjustment in zoning affairs. W. T. Traith is chairman.

Bulb growers will meet members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at a meeting called at the Chamber rooms for 8 p.m., November 28, to discuss means of creating a better market for locally-grown bulbs and permanently stimulate the industry.

This evening at the New Thought Temple, Dr. A. F. Barton will deliver a lecture-lesson in applied psychology, the subject of which will be "All is Yours." The lecture will start at 8 p.m. and will be open to the general public.

C. Eden Quinton, B.A., instructor in history at the University of Washington, will speak on "Ignatius Loyola, the founder of the Jesuits," at the Memorial Hall on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Admission will be free, but collection will be taken up in aid of the hall funds.

December 1 has been set as the date for hearing by His Honor Judge Lampman of the trial Rex vs. Lin Lin was committed by Magistrate George Jay on a charge of being in possession of opium. Carver Martin appears for the Crown and Stuart Henderson for the accused.

The suggested site of the new city lands office is 620 Fort Street, according to a recommendation that will be made to the city by the lands committee. The premises were formerly occupied by J. A. Walker, real estate operator, who is moving to another location, it is understood. The limit fixed by the council when it instructed the committee to proceed with the choice of an uptown office for the city's land business.

A special meeting of the City Council is called for 4 p.m. Friday to consider the supplementary by-law necessary in connection with the Panama Pacific elevator agreement. Toronto attorneys of the company have asked the city to set a substantial assessment on the property to remove it from the status of tax exempt. An assessment of $10,000 is suggested. Legal counsel objected to a nominal valuation of $1 as the taxation on a dollar would be the equivalent to total exemption, complicating the agreement under the existing regulations, as the life of the agreement is for twenty-five years.

LAND SALES SHOW HIGH TOTALS WITH ACREAGE IN LEAD

Realtors Learn of Sales of $235,620 For October From Nineteen Firms

The total of real estate sales returns for October received from only nineteen of Victoria's realty firms, reached a total of $235,620, according to an announcement made by Robert Lethaby, secretary of the Real Estate Board, at the bi-weekly luncheon meeting of that body in the Chamber of Commerce to-day.

The list of properties which passed through the hands of these nineteen agents of Victoria are as follows:

Dwelling houses $ 71,750
Vacant lots 10,670
Business property 12,400
Acreage 138,400
Total $235,620

The feature of the sales returns for October were the acreage deals, centered mainly in Saanich and Metcalm. This figure, real estate men say, indicates a steadily growing demand for such property, and shows an encouraging return in the sale of agricultural lands.

RENTABLE HOUSES

A report supplied to the meeting by a special committee showed that there were only eighty-one unrented rentable houses in Greater Victoria, including those in Esquimalt, Oak Bay, Saanich and the city proper. This data was supplied by twenty-one of the leading real estate firms of Victoria.

FISH COMMISSION FINISHES IN NORTH

Prince Rupert, Nov. 23.—District salmon fishermen in large numbers met the international fisheries commission last night and after hearing a variety of opinions and suggestions, W. A. Found promised fullest consideration. W. Reid, of Witkita, put in a plea for fairer treatment toward natives. E. Hoffman, in speaking of W. A. Found's invitation for fishermen to co-operate with the department in upholding regulations, suggested that magistrates be appointed from among fishermen themselves.

Practically all of the fishermen agreed that streams were becoming greatly depleted, compared with years ago. Some thought sealing was at the bottom of most of the trouble. Mr. Found was asked some way to cope with the destructive work of hair-seals and lions among salmon. He also requested that canneries not be given the right to issue licenses. On the latter point Found said no apprehension need be felt.

The commission concluded its sitting and sailed last night.

Commissioner Babcock could not attend the final sitting because of a cold.

The remains of Mrs. Lucy Whittingham were laid to rest yesterday in Royal Oak Burial Park, the funeral taking place from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, Rev. Canon Hinchcliffe officiating. The hymns sung were "Lead, Kindly Light," and "Abide With Me." A large number of sympathizing friends attended, including R. Hayward, M.P.P., representing the local members of the Legislature; D. B. B. C. Auto Organization Asks Gas Tax Be Used Only To Improve Present Roads

Vancouver, Nov. 23.—Radical revision in governmental expenditure of revenue collected through the gasoline tax is recommended in a resolution passed by the provincial board of the Automobile Club of British Columbia here.

In a report submitted by R. E. Berry, chairman of the highway committee, and endorsed by the directors, the Automobile Club approved of "a maximum gasoline tax of three cents, and that this tax be used for maintenance and improvement of present highways and that new construction of highways be provided for out of general revenue."

As the greater part of the revenue from the gasoline tax is collected on the mainland, and the Vancouver Island, it was stated the Automobile Club believed funds raised through this levy should be expended to keep highways on the island in good condition.

It was stated the club believed in the development of British Columbia through new highways, but did not believe motor owners should bear the burden at the expense of the more-travelled highways.

Municipal action urged.

Mr. Berry's report also urged municipalities should spend a certain portion of the revenue collected from motor vehicle owners on maintenance of roads in municipal territory.

It was also stated that in future the Automobile Club would no longer recommend construction of district roads, but would confine itself to recommendations regarding main highways only.

HARD SURFACING

Immediate attention of the Provincial Government in regard to maintenance of highways on the Lower Mainland, was a new towed hard surfacing, these in order to provide for "proper, comfortable motor travel," is urged in another resolution.

The directors, whose meeting was held here last night, also decided to embark on a Canada-wide campaign for promotion of a transcanada highway. Coupled with this campaign will be a drive to secure a federal government grant aid up to fifty per cent of the cost of construction and maintenance.

This campaign was supported by Hon. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works of British Columbia, in a letter to the board.

RADIO CONCERTS BY FIREFIGHTERS

Radio Concert Party Formed By City Fire Department Under Chief Stewart

A series of band concerts at the supper hour has been arranged in the re-union of the city series over radio station C.F.C.T. "A Half-hour With City Fire-fighters," will be a regular feature of the city's programme twice a month for the winter season. The first concert in the series will be given tomorrow, during the supper hour, the exact time to be announced Thursday.

Under Chief Vernon Stewart, the band of the City Fire Department was organized four years ago, and is the result of a spirit of co-operation that has spread through the department. With seventy-four members in the department the firemen have mustered a band of about thirty pieces under John Newall. They are now organizing a special radio concert party to put on a half-hour of popular music on alternate Thursdays, on the city's radio programmes.

The firemen are made possible through the permission of the city fire warden, and will take place in the main fire hall, directly above the engines. Mayor J. C. Pendray opened a fund for the purchase of the necessary equipment to put the supper concerts on the air, with his personal cheque for $25.

The fire fighters are inviting comment on the first of the series from radio fans, and will welcome suggestions for the improvement of the supper programmes. Letters should be addressed in care of the radio station, C.F.C.T.

PENSIONS FOR AGED RAISE NEW PROBLEM

Vancouver's Effort to Claim Money's of Home Inmates Is Investigated

Vancouver, Nov. 23.—The right of the city of Vancouver to ask inmates of the Old People's Home who are receiving old age pensions to assign them to the city as partial payment for their maintenance is being investigated. Captain Ian Mackenzie, M.P.P., states that while the city may have power to demand payment from inmates where they have any income, there is nothing in the Old Age Pensions Act which provides that pensioners shall assign their pensions of $20 a month.

Already pensions have been received by fourteen inmates of the home, while twenty more have applied. The city relief committee proposed to take over the pensions and allow each inmate drawing such a pension $2 per month out of it for tobacco and other comforts.

WHEAT POOL REPORTS YEAR OF GROWTH

Alberta Organization Handled 45,000,000 Bushels of Wheat From 1926-Crop

Calgary, Nov. 23.—The Alberta Wheat Pool handled close to 45,000,000 bushels of wheat from the 1926 crop. R. D. Purdy, the manager, stated in his report presented at the annual meeting of the pool, which was opened here this morning.

The total amount of payments to growers was $52,364,909.

The directors' report covered a wide range of wheat pool activities. It stated there were now 160 line elevators owned by the Pool, as against forty-two last year. In 1926 the Pool had only one terminal elevator in operation at Prince Rupert. This year the Pool had under lease a Vancouver terminal elevator which had a capacity of 1,600,000 bushels. Construction has been started on a new Pool terminal elevator which would have accommodation for 2,400,000 bushels.

A handling contract had been negotiated with elevators, the directors stated, which would run for three years. The charges on grain coming through country houses were not materially changed, but the movement of Pool grain had been restricted in some directions.

"Any extension of our activities as far as the movement of grain is concerned," the report stated, "is bound to have but one result, and that is the stimulation of acquisition of Pool elevators and Pool terminals to take complete charge of the handling of the members' grain directly from the farmers' wagons to the ships."

Mr. Purdy stated that during the past season the Pool had contracts covering the handling of pool wheat with sixty-one elevator companies, operating approximately 1,100 elevators at more than 500 shipping points. During the past season, Mr. Purdy continued, at Calgary, Edmonton, Vancouver and Winnipeg, inspection, re-inspection and surveys had been called by the Pool on 1,777 cars, resulting in 614 grades being raised, eight lowered and 1,155 remaining unchanged. The net gain to Pool shippers was $60,525. There had been 1,593 moisture tests.

The bulk of the wheat handled by the Pool had graded No. 3 Northern, this being 25.5 per cent of the total. Secretary R. O. Gorman in his report stated member enrolled under the first series contract totaled 42,579, with an aggregate acreage of 3,977,517. Increase during the past fifteen and a half months had been 6,101. There were 281 Wheat Pool locals.

BACHELOR JUDGE'S VIEWS ON WOMEN

Says Breach of Promise Cases Assert Inferiority of Women

London, Eng., Nov. 22 (By the Canadian Press).—A bachelor judge, Mr. Justice McCardie, a woman barrister for the plaintiff, whose efforts were closely watched by three other women barristers, and a jury which included three women, were features in a breach of promise action heard at the Law Courts here. The fair plaintiff's name was Batchelor.

Miss Miss May Wheeler, who appeared for the plaintiff, said at the outset that the only question was one of damages as the defendant did not appear. "No, you must prove your case," gently interposed the judge. Nevertheless his Lordship subsequently extended warm congratulations to the lady counsel on her advocacy, after the jury had awarded £100 damages.

Miss Batchelor, who is a dressmaker living at Hemel Hemstead, described the break with the defendant, Mr. Alfred Chidden, a printer. There was a temporary reconciliation after she had begun breach of promise proceedings, but the defendant ultimately declared himself sick and tired of the whole business.

When Miss Batchelor referred to things she had bought with a view to the wedding, the judge pointed out that they would be useful if she married someone else.

"I don't think I shall try again," she answered, amid laughter.

The judge—you will never trust anyone any more?—No.

Mr. Justice McCardie said an action of this sort was the assertion of the difference of women from man, if not of the inferiority of women. The law on the subject was a survival of the time when a woman was an economic slave. It still existed, when women asserted equal economic rights.

Friendly Help Appeals—The Friendly Help Society is making an appeal for the gift of two wood heaters for two poor families who are without any means of heating their humble homes and who would consequently suffer much misery if a cold snap came. The society is also asking for apples and vegetables for distribution among a number of families. Anyone having any of these at their disposal, is kindly asked to communicate with the secretary at the Market Building.

NOMINATIONS FOR W.I. ARE RECEIVED

Victoria Institute Makes Preparations For Annual Meeting and Election

Nominations for officers for the ensuing year were received at the monthly meeting of the Victoria Women's Institute, those nominated being Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Urquhart, Mrs. Gilson, Mrs. Schmels, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Campbell, many others refusing nominations.

The meeting was held in the headquarters with Mrs. K. Palmer in the chair, and a large attendance of members and several visitors. A large amount of correspondence was dealt with, including many letters of thanks from organizations and individuals who had received kindnesses from the V. M. I. An invitation from the Royal Oak W. I. to attend a birthday tea on December 8 was received. A donation of five dollars was passed to help with the purchase of prizes for the potato show.

Any members having books to spare are asked to kindly bring them to the annual meeting on December 2. These will be sent to a county institute in need of books, in an isolated district. In answer to the roll call on the exhibition of home-made Christmas gifts, several useful and easily made articles were shown.

The secretary and treasurer's reports showed active interest being taken, and finances in splendid shape.

A court whist party will be held at the home of Mrs. Broner, corner of Kings Road and Wanshart Street, on Friday next at eight o'clock. Mrs. Fulton has kindly consented to convene same and refreshments will be served.

The president reported on the concert given at the T. B. ward on Tuesday last, and announced that December concert had been arranged. Mr. Gilson, Mrs. Schmels, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Campbell will give a short sketch, and Columbia School of Music. Mrs. Burdon Murphy is in charge of the musical part of the programme. Reports of sick committee and social afternoon were also given.

Mrs. J. D. Gordon gave a report of the Local Council of Women and also gave an interesting talk on community betterment. The attendance prize was awarded at the annual meeting.

The committee who have carried on through the year will arrange for the T. B. Christmas cheer, and the new officers will be in charge of the decorating of the sun room Christmas tree at the Jubilee Hospital. An invitation will be sent to Mrs. V. S. McLachlan, superintendent of Women's Institutes for British Columbia, to attend the annual meeting of Victoria Women's Institute.

Conveners of standing and special committees are asked to have their reports ready at the annual meeting. The following ladies volunteered to act as hostesses for the tea hour at the annual meeting: Mesdames Adam, Waitt and Peden.

A letter of congratulation will be sent to one of the members, Mrs. Clarke, on the occasion of her golden wedding anniversary.

Primrose Lodge Bazaar—Daughters and Maids of England Lodge, Primrose No. 32, will hold their annual bazaar on Friday in the S.O.E. Hall. It will be opened at 2 p.m. by Mrs. James, one of the founders of the lodge. The following have charge of the various stalls: Fancy work, Mesdames Skinner and Hatcher, plain sewing, Mesdames Oliver and Hill, home cooking, Mrs. Skett; candy, Mesdames Joyce and Jackson. Afternoon tea will be convened by Mrs. Pearson and her helpers, and the spinning wheel, Mrs. Dearing. A dance will be held in the evening with good music at 8:30 p.m.

Quadrants F.T.A. Card Party—Under the auspices of the social committee of the Quadrant Parent-Teacher Association, a five hundred card party will be held at the school on Friday evening with good music at 8:30 p.m.

Copper Tea to Be Held at Strawberry Vale's New Hall

At a special meeting of Strawberry Vale Women's Institute, held at their hall on Wilkinson Road on Tuesday afternoon, plans were made for a novel copper tea to be given by Mrs. Hutchison of Little Saanich Mountain in the new hall on Tuesday, December 6 from 3 till 5 p.m. The guests are expected to pay one cent for each inch of their waist measurement, little aprons with pockets being provided for that purpose.

A good programme has been arranged, and one's fortune may be foretold by tea-cup reading. A cordial invitation is extended to all interested, and a pleasant afternoon is assured those who attend. The next card party will be held at the hall on Tuesday, November 29 at 8 p.m., when valuable prizes will be given. Those who expect to attend please note change of date.

L.O.B.A. Bazaar Success—Victoria Purple Star Lodge No. 104 L.O.B.A. held their annual bazaar in 711 View Street on Saturday. Worthy Mistress Mrs. D.

Sealed in Metal "SALADA" TEA

Always delicious and fresh. Try it.

Hunter opened the sale at 10 o'clock and the ladies were kept busy until they sold out. The conveners of the various stalls were: Fancywork, Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Parby, plain sewing, Mrs. Townsend, Mrs. Richards, Mrs. Richardson; home cooking, Mrs. McKenzie; candy, Mrs. Joyce; touch and take, Miss Crawford; luncheon and afternoon tea, Mrs. Trowdale, Mrs. Shand, Mrs. West, Mrs. Walker, with Mrs. Wight at the receipt of customs. Mrs. Skett was the general convener. The cake was won by Mrs. Watson; the cushion by Miss Richardson, with No. 19. The runner is not claimed yet, the winning number is 61 and the holder of what ticket is asked to telephone 71941. The lodge thanks all those who helped to make the bazaar such a success, also Mr. Mellor, who so kindly lent his store.

DR. TOLMIE SPEAKS AT DUNCAN MEETING

Duncan, Nov. 22.—Addressing a meeting in the K. of P. hall, Duncan, on Monday evening, Hon. S. F. Tolmie dwelt at considerable length on the expenditure of the Government. Dr. Tolmie touched on the question of transportation, and said that the whole country would benefit by the use of the Canadian National Railway from coast to coast, instead of so much passing through the U.S.A. to reach Montreal and Quebec, which resulted in this railway company only getting a small proportion of the freight charges. He advocated an extended system of placing immigrants in colonies, instead of their being settled miles away from each other, which was, he thought, so often the cause of their giving up the land.

In conclusion Dr. Tolmie said that the next election would bring forth many different results.

Loud applause and a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker concluded the evening.

BEEKEEPERS PROSPEROUS

Toronto, Nov. 23.—A successful season was experienced by the beekeepers of Ontario, according to the address delivered at the opening of the forty-eighth annual convention here yesterday by Morley Pettit, president of the Ontario Beekeepers' Association.

Safe Now When Others Come Close!

The Secret of Keeping a Perspiring Body Sweet

Do you know why thousands of people who never have to take a laxative, do not eat a candy cascade now and then? They have found that cascade sweetens the whole system—brings an immaculacy of person that means everything. It prevents bodily chemistry from ever making one unconsciously offensive to others. And what a perfect regulator of the bowels!

Salts affect the lining of the bowels. Mineral oils leave a coating that the blood must carry off through the pores. How much better to cascade the system, and cause the bowels to expel everything by normal muscular contraction! To say nothing of the cleaner, sweeter condition that lasts for days—a wholesome condition that makes the use of deodorants quite unnecessary.

Some people, however, are so fastidious that they often find that a cascade only once a week is all the tonic they need.

Cascade is splendid for children, too, and they love the taste of this candy laxative which every drugstore has for 10c and 25c.

STONE DANCE used to undo all day's precautions for personal cleanliness. All waste in my system seemed to come out through the pores. Today, I don't worry; I keep clean all through, with just occasional use of—

NATIONAL PARK FOR WEST COAST

Surveyors For New Road Will Investigate Possibilities, Dr. Sutherland Says

Minister of Public Works Addresses Ward Two Liberals at Annual Meeting

There is no question about it. The stock of the Liberal Party is going up throughout the Province. With the unanimity shown here to-night and the strong sentiment expressed at various other meetings in British Columbia, I am sure the Liberal Party will be given great support when next it goes to the country, declared Dr. W. H. Sutherland, Minister of Public Works, at the annual meeting of Ward Two Liberals in the Liberal Association headquarters last night.

Dr. Sutherland spoke of the splendid career of Premier MacLean, mentioning the excellent state of the Province's finances as referred to by a prominent London financier, who was on the coast last month. The fact that in a recent loan this Province gained the best price of any in the Dominion answers all criticisms along this line, he said.

In connection with the opening up of the Province since 1919 the Government has been working on a plan of improving main trunk roads, he continued. The work on the Malahat Highway, and that on the Sooke Road will mean much to Victoria.

"We believe that the opening of the West Coast Road, an end to which we have been working for considerable time with the improving of the Sooke and Jordan River Roads, will be of excellent assistance to Victoria and to the whole Island," said Dr. Sutherland.

When our surveyors, who start next week on the detailed survey of this road, are working, we hope they will gain valuable information regarding the possibility of establishing a suitable national park en route, similar to those famous Canadian parks now in existence.

"With regard to the criticism of our spending money and floating loans for road work," Dr. Sutherland remarked, the automobile licenses and gas taxes are paying for these expenses. In other words, the people who are using the roads are paying for their improvement, and no extra taxes are charged.

Through extensive figures we find it takes the average man approximately from $50 to $60 a month to operate an automobile. By taking this license money to improve roads we feel that we may save him from $5 to $10 a month on the year and fear of his car."

OFFICERS ELECTED
P. W. Dempster was unanimously elected president of Ward Two for the following year. Other officers elected were as follows: Vice-president, W. G. Lemm; secretary, R. Smith; treasurer, Mrs. J. de Blaquiere; members of the executive, Mrs. R. B. Lerman, Mrs. A. Grant, F. Mellor and R. Dinale.

C. J. V. Spratt, president of the Victoria Liberal Association, opened the meeting, referring to the splendid attendance, which, he said, indicated a growing interest in Liberalism in the city.

With the splendid record held by the Liberal Party, everyone of you should be proud to be members of this fine group," said Mr. Spratt. "I think, however, that some of us are getting away from the true idea of Liberalism, in the sense that we are devoting too much time to the provincial end. We must also remember that we are members of the grand party in the Dominion of Canada."

FELLOWSHIP
In the ward meetings there is the idea of promoting good fellowship among the members. "That is another reason why I am so pleased to see the large turnout to-night."

Following Dr. Sutherland's mention of the West Coast Road, Mr. Spratt asked the ward members "how Dr. Tolmie could climb on the back of the Liberal wagon."

"I think I mentioned this very subject in this room last year and great efforts were made to forward it. You can be sure that the Tory Party has had nothing to do with this great development."

Musical entertainment, dancing and refreshments followed the meeting. Nearly 150 attended.

The next general meeting of Ward Two will be held Tuesday, December 6, it was announced.

Stop Hurting Instantly then Lift Right Off!

Drop "Freezone" on that aching corn instantly it stops hurting; then shortly you lift the corn right off with your fingers. You'll laugh, really! It is so easy and doesn't hurt one bit! Works like a charm, every time.

YOUNG TORIES OF SAANICH ORGANIZE

Provisional Officers Elected to Establish New Conservative Body Here

Young Saanich Conservatives last night elected Ralph Mitchell as provisional president and Miss F. Fisher as provisional secretary of their new organization.

At a meeting in the Conservative headquarters, Campbell Building, plans for organizing the Young Conservative Association of Saanich were worked out. It was decided to hold meetings of young people in the various wards of the constituency and then to elect permanent officers. Social activities will be stressed as the first part of the programme to get the new organization well established.

Col. A. W. Wood, president of the Saanich Conservative Association, warmly commended those at the meeting on their plans for a young Conservative organization to support the principles of the Conservative Party. T. G. Coventry, M.P.P. for Saanich, endorsed this idea, pointing out that such an organization would be extremely valuable in winning elections. W. O. Wallace, who was a delegate to the National Conservative Convention in Winnipeg recently, recalled that this conference had strongly favored young Conservative organizations.

CONCILIATION BOARD SITTING AT NANAIMO

Effect of Oil Burning Ships on Coal Trade Told

Nanaimo, Nov. 23.—The board of conciliation which is inquiring into the dispute between the Western Fuel Corporation of Canada Limited and its employees resumed its sitting here this morning.

Judge Barker, the chairman, asked if there was any chance of finishing the evidence to-day. Mr. Lett, who is appearing for the company, said that there were only two more witnesses to be called and unless the cross-examination of these witnesses took up more time than he expected the evidence would be concluded to-day.

David Irvine, representing the men, explained that following the suggestion of the chairman, when the sessions adjourned last week, they had tried to arrange a meeting with the company to ascertain whether or not a settlement was possible. However, the company had not seen fit to accede to their request for a conference.

The chairman said he could understand the position of the company as they probably wanted to get all the facts of their case before the board.

The first witness called to-day was Frank Richardson, a representative of the firm of Price, Waterhouse & Company, auditors, who had charge of the company's books. In answer to questions he stated the total net profits for 1924 were $22,215.76. As against this there was a total capital expenditure of $149,000. For 1925 the net profits were $102,455, with capital expenditures of $127,942. In 1926 the net profits were $19,008, with a capital expenditure of $32,554.

NO DIVIDENDS
No dividends were paid for nine months of this year, profits were $38,190 and the capital expenditure $33,270. No dividends have been paid at any time since the incorporation of the present company.

Arthur Webb, general sales manager of the company with headquarters in Vancouver, told of the effect fuel oil had in regard to ships formerly supplied by his company. Hog fuel, a preparation of sawdust and shavings, also was being extensively used by apartment houses and industries and was reducing the sale of coal. He said 80 per cent. of boats coming into Vancouver harbor were oil-burners; that a regular line to the United Kingdom burned oil from Vancouver to certain points where they took on coal, because it could be purchased cheaply. These boats had been former customers of Island coal fields.

Seattle bunkers, which were being increased, were big competitors of his company and he quoted figures to show there had been a general slump in the business of his firm.

AT THE THEATRES

INSIDE STORY OF
RACE TRACK TOLD IN PLAYHOUSE FILM

The real story of the racing world at last is offered patrons of the Playhouse Theatre by Charles R. Rogers, First National producer, with "The Sunset Derby." The picture, which is based on a story by William Dudley Pelley, tells an interesting and straightforward story of the sport of kings without the customary banalities and hackneyed turns of plot. The suspense and drama are derived not from the childish devices usually employed, but from the lives and personalities of the jockeys, track "hang-ers-on" and trainers, who make up the personnel of the sport. Mary Astor and William Collier, Jr., play the featured roles.

RAY BELL COMPANY
PRESENT STORY OF
LIFE WITH CIRCUS

The Ray Bell Company present this week at the Coliseum a three-act comedy-drama of rural and circus life entitled "The Balloon Girl," a play of the same high class calibre as that offered last week. Full of good, clean comedy, built up around an excellent story, "The Balloon Girl" runs an hour and a half.

Chadwick Pictures Corporation's "April Fool" is the screen attraction. This adaptation of the stage play, "April Showers," by Edgar Allan Wolf and Alexander Carr, is a veritable laugh fest, which kept the audience in continual convulsions of gulps and giggles.

Alexander Carr, of "Potash and Perlmutter" fame, who assumes the role he created on the stage in the screen production, dominates a fine cast. A master of technique of screen acting, he most gracefully bridges the wide gaps between the varied phases of his role. His comedy, delicate and subtle, is always amusing and his more serious moments brought lumps to many throats.

MARION DAVIES AS AMERICAN CO-ED IN DOMINION PICTURE

Picture-goers who never miss an opportunity to see Marion Davies on the screen are given an opportunity to see the real Marion in "The Fair Co-ed," her latest starring vehicle, now at the Dominion Theatre.

During her entire film career Marion Davies has had little opportunity to show her real self to her great following of screen admirers. Her roles have nearly always demanded that she almost completely change her personality.

In "The Fair Co-ed," Miss Davies will be seen as herself—a typical American co-ed of today.

Miss Davies is supported in this story of college life by a cast which includes many college graduates.

One of the best novelty singing acts lately presented in Victoria is heard at the Dominion this week. They lately completed a thirty-nine weeks' engagement at one of the Los Angeles theatres, and come to this city with a reputation as harmony singers of a high

CATALINA ISLAND IS

A very beautiful location trip to Catalina Island which lasted a week was one of the treats enjoyed by the Universal Company's latest picture, "Back to God's Country," at the Capitol Theatre this week. Catalina is a beautiful resort about twenty-five miles off the coast of California, near Los Angeles.

A colorful two-masted sailing vessel was used, and presented a striking picture when outlined against the horizon of the glassy Pacific.

The stage specialties for this week at the Capitol Theatre include the Georgian Singers and Players in a superb musical presentation; the Gibson Sisters, a novelty comedy dance team, in terpsichorean antics. The concert orchestra will feature "Honolulu Moon."

These Movie People

Hollywood, Calif., Nov. 23.—Wandering about Hollywood, Ben Lyon coming out of his hotel with Hal Howe. Ben just got back from Europe a few weeks ago and he's started to work already. Estelle Taylor driving toward First National. It's the first time in months she has been seen at the wheel of her car. A hungry looking actor who probably hasn't worked a day in many weeks. This winter will be tough on the extras, especially with some of the studios shutting down for a couple of months.

Dorothy Herzog, one of the moviemakers' few clever writers, going into the Montmartre. She's one of Eddie's best customers. A couple of "gag" men standing on a corner discussing a murder plot. While a nearby cop eyes them suspiciously.

Will Rogers riding with Mayor Cryer of Los Angeles. Wonder if he's giving him some tips on how a city should be mayored. Will should know. Louis Fasenda and Hal Wallis shipping in a pretty new way eating place. If they don't get married soon, Hollywood will lose all interest in their wedding.

The Fox Studios. It's occupying some acres on both sides of Western Avenue. It's a pretty expensive property for a movie studio. The office where scores of extras line up every afternoon for their pay checks. Inside the gate. Much activity. Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell hard at work. They seem to like playing together.

Victor McLaglen talking over his next play with Raoul Walsh.

Olive Borden in a pretty new costume. Eugene O'Brien just back from a vacation. The noon whistle. and outside again for lunch.

A group of extra girls. All of them very attractive. Each with an eye on stardom for which she would make nearly any sacrifice. But few, if any, will ever reach their goal. A strange town, this place called Hollywood. Hundreds fall. And then an unknown suddenly flashes across the cinema heavens. There is an old saying here. Don't kick that office boy, he may be general manager to-morrow. That's the way the movie industry functions.

Charlie Chaplin strolling alone. Perfectly unconscious of what is going on about him. He often smooths out the rough spots in his stories this way. Many actors have tried to "ape" this genius. But all have dropped by the roadside. There is only one Charlie Chaplin. And never can be another.

The film industry used to be looked down upon by big business. The whole industry is founded upon enormous salaries which cannot last, said business men. But the salaries have withstood all assaults and the industry is growing every day. Proof of its position is that film executives often are invited to speak at business gatherings. At a recent meeting of this nature, Edwin Carewe was on the programme as the principal speaker.

Robert Edeson has a position all his own in the cinema colony. A magazine writer approached him on the set recently to get some information for a story in which he was to be featured. Instead of talking about himself, Edeson did nothing but pay tribute to Phyllis Haver, with whom he was working. Not another actor in Hollywood would have done that.

Again the Royal Victoria Theatre was packed last night for the Kiwanis Minstrel Show, the accommodation being taxed to a greater extent than it was on the opening night. Last night's performance was met with a swelling and the demands for encores were numerous and emphatic. Carl Stocker and Jack Trace continued the great comedian teamwork and won new laurels. Dave MacFarlane again put over his trick chicken song with great success. Tom Kelway, the fire-eating sergeant-major, won storms of applause and Bill Maynard was no longer able to hide his identity as the mysterious Doris and was recalled to receive an ovation. William Jacques' rendering of "Love's Old Sweet Song" was well received. Albert Acra's solo on the bones made an appropriate number for the half circle act. All the other soloists were in good voice and were well supported by the chorus men. Cecil Heaton's orchestra was in excellent form. The last performance will be given to-night.

MISS DORA KITTO
LEAVES S.P.C.A.After Fourteen Years' Service
With Society Secretary Retires; Reports Read

R. W. Hunter was last evening re-elected president of the S.P.C.A. at the annual meeting of the Victoria branch of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals held in the Arts and Crafts Rooms, Union Building. Other officers elected were first vice-president, R. T. Williams; second vice-president, Mrs. H. Crane; treasurer, J. T. Braden; honorary counsel, Lindley Grease; honorary auditor, Reginald Genn. The committee of ten were picked as follows: Mrs. Oscar Bass, Mrs. W. S. Burdon, Mrs. Douglas Smith, Mrs. John Harper, Miss R. Davies, Capt. C. Williamson, A. McCloy, B. J. Gadsden, R. Hudson and Mrs. B. W. Walker. The office of secretary was not filled last evening, but Miss Anderson officiated in that capacity at the meeting.

MISS KITTO RESIGNS

After fourteen years' active work with the society, several of which she acted as secretary, Miss Dora Kitto tendered her formal resignation from the secretaryship of the society last evening. Her resignation, although anticipated for some time, caused sincere regret among the members who expressed themselves extremely sorry that pressure of other affairs should make her retirement necessary.

R. T. Williams, on behalf of the members, presented Miss Kitto with a silver table lamp and two silver flower vases.

He told of Miss Kitto's untiring service and her zealous efforts at all times to advance the cause of the society, and added that during her term of secretary the society had made rapid strides. Miss Kitto, in reply, expressed the pleasure it had always been to work for the society and although she was forced to resign on account of other work, she would always take an interest in the society and all its undertakings.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

Miss Kitto before relinquishing office, read the report of the last year's activities. Important undertakings had included the treatment of dogs in the North and West, especially among the Indians; the protection of cats, rodeo cruelties, the shipment of old horses and many other matters. It was noted that the society had been instrumental in securing the inclusion in the Game Act of a clause making it a criminal offence to abandon cats in country districts and by-ways. The danger to dogs riding on running boards of motor cars was also discussed during the year, and although no legislation was passed on the matter it was decided that improvement of the condition respecting this must rest with an appeal to the owners of both the automobiles and the motor cars. Animal week had been fittingly observed this year, a fancy dress dance and a tag day being held. The secretary reported that during the year George Allen, late of the Northwest Mounted Police and Provincial Police, had been appointed inspector to succeed G. T. Maurice, who had resigned.

The report of the inspector, Mr. Allen, noted that during the year the number of cases dealt with were as follows: Cattle, 13; horses, 92; dogs, 75; goats, 14; poultry, 19; cats, 50; sheep, 4; miscellaneous, 43; total, 310. Cases taken to court, 7; convictions, 4; dismissed with caution, 1. This list included the case of a Chinese garbage collector whom the society had endeavored to instruct in the care of his horse and harness, but as this had seemed futile he was taken before the city police court and fined $50 with costs.

The work of the inspector had been extremely heavy in the last two or three months it was reported on account of the number of calls in connection with an epidemic attacking both cats and dogs. Conditions of housing dogs at logging camps and the methods of killing poultry were found to be as humane as possible. The inspector's report concluded with an expression of thanks to Chief of Police John Fry and the members of his department; the chiefs of police of Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt; the superintendent of British Columbia Police, Col. J. H. McMullin, Inspector Parsons and Sergeant Robert Adams, and members of the local staff who had given valuable assistance to

"Skinny" Women
Gain WeightNew YEAST and IRON builds up weight and strength
First treatment gives results
—or no money

If you are skinny as a rail, thin, gaunt limbs, and you seem to lack all energy, you need the good pounds of "stay-put" flesh and the winning strength that only IRONIZED YEAST can give. Thousands of rundown, weak men and women have regained their normal weight and vigor with IRONIZED YEAST.

Yeast turns your food into flesh and strength. IRONIZED YEAST is two tonics in one—weight-building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same as the yeast used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial.

This yeast is treated with iron taken from fresh vegetables, thus making a rich and healthy food.

Iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and toning up nerves and muscles.

When Yeast is ironized in this way it is most effective—for iron is needed to bring out the weight-building values of Yeast. By this formula IRONIZED YEAST gives you results in half the time required by yeast and iron taken separately.

Ask your druggist for IRONIZED YEAST and start to get pounds of weight and new strength to-day. You will not only feel better, but you will look better, as IRONIZED YEAST clears out the old deadening poisons and brings new healthy color to your cheeks and sparkle to your eyes. Comes in pleasant-tasting tablets—60 in a bottle—dissolve in water. Does not upset the stomach nor cause lax or bloating.

Results from first treatment
—or your money back

Go now to the druggist and get a single course treatment. If you are not absolutely satisfied with the weight and health benefits gained, money for the bottle will be promptly refunded. If inconvenient to buy at the druggist, send $1.25 to CANADIAN IRONIZED YEAST CO., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont., Desk 125R.

Montreal To-day

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

By B.C. Bond Corporation Direct Wire
Montreal, Nov. 23.—To-day's early performance on the local market was simply a continuation of the bullish demonstration of the past few days.

The list of stocks traded in was even broader than yesterday, and the majority of issues retained the best part of their gains to the close.

A good number of the outstanding features of the session were found in the pulp and paper group. Although two new high records were registered in that department, a few issues showed an easier tone and contrasted with the general tone. St. Maurice Valley attracted much attention and sold up to a new peak price at 68½, closing with a net gain of one point at 67.

Fraser Company Preferred had the distinction of scoring the largest advance on the whole board in selling up from 118½ to 123, a new record, and maintaining the top price up to the end. Waynamack added 3½ points to its recent gain in touching a high of 119½.

The Spanish River Common issues, after advancing ½ to 135½, declined to 134, closing at that level for a net loss of half a point. The preferred opened unchanged at 157 and finished two points under that price. Laurentide acted in a similar way, advancing ½ to 111, and then easing off to 109½. At its close of 71, Howard Smith was one point lower.

The leader of the specialty group was Alberta Pacific Grain, the price of which climbed from 61½ to the new high record of 65, with the best price at the close. International Nickel firmed up 1½ to 68½ and later dropped to 68. Breweries, from a strong opening at 107½, declined to 104, and closed there, while Alcohol held firm around 42½.

Brazilian traded the session 1½ higher, at 24½, reacted to 24 and again recovered to 24½.

Montreal Power firmed up ¼ to 91 and Shawinigan improved ½ to 86½. Winnipeg Electric displayed irregularity, first declining to 90½, then rallying to 101½ and closing at 100½ for a net gain of 1½.

Considerable irregularity was displayed on the curb with several outstanding price changes in both directions. On the downward side, Frontenac Oil was the chief sufferer. Heavy selling developed shortly after the opening and the price eased off to a low of 29½.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.)

Winnipeg, Nov. 23.—Wheat: The local wheat market was inclined to be rather erratic to-day, prices traveling upward and downward several times within a range of about 1 cent, but despite apparent weakness in outside markets, the underdone was firm. Prices declined early about ¼ cent on the indifferent Liverpool cables and opening weakness at Buenos Ayres.

In the decline some good buying appeared that was largely credited to New York short interests and a small amount to exporters, and prices advanced into new highs, climbing ¼ cent over the close yesterday. However, the bulge was not held, the market fell in goff on some liquidation by longs while the buying power fell away and was not at any time as of a good class as was going on yesterday.

Export business, overnight was said to be small with the foreign not inclined to follow the feverish advance of Tuesday. Buenos Ayres after closing 1½ cents up yesterday opened ½ to 1½ lower this morning, but had firmed up somewhat at noon.

C.N.R. OFFICIALS VISITORS TO CITY

General Passenger Agent at Vancouver and R. W. Lett Here

G. A. McNichol, general passenger agent for the Canadian National Railways and Canadian National Steamships at Vancouver was in the city today on an inspection tour of Northwest offices of the line. Christmas travel over the C.N.R. to the Old Country has been fair so far, Mr. McNichol stated. The movement to the East, however, is not started, and it is hard to say just how it will be this year.

R. C. W. Lett, superintendent of the department of natural resources for the Canadian National, was here yesterday on business for the company. Business conditions in British Columbia are on the upward trend, Mr. Lett stated, judging from his own experience while in the Province.

DECISION ON SHIP SALE POSTPONED

Members of U.S. Shipping Board Disagree Over Time of Operation Required

Washington, Nov. 23.—The shipping board yesterday postponed decision on the sale of its three remaining Pacific lines. A special meeting will be called, probably this week, to make a final decision of the proposed sale.

Disagreement among members over the time of operation to be required after the sale, caused the postponement. Half the members favor a sale under which buyers would be required to operate the lines as they are for a period of five years and the others want the lines to be sold outright.

A sub-committee reported a compromise proposal under which the lines would be advertised for sale under both the five and ten year periods, the shipping board to decide the question after bids have been received. Members said that it was practically certain that the compromise would be accepted.

Catala Weathers Strong Southeast Gale Successfully

Prince Rupert, B.C., Nov. 23.—The steamer Catala of the Union S.S. Company, ashore on Sparrow Hawk Reef, near Port Simpson, successfully withstood a stiff southeaster Monday night. The Salvage King, which arrived from Sparrow Hawk yesterday afternoon, reported that the Catala was in a safe position with good prospects of finding an even keel by Sunday. Better time tide were more favorable.

"I have used Dodd's Kidney Pills for over fifteen years," writes Mr. A. L. Surtees, a resident of Boucheville, Que. "I used to be bothered with rheumatism and sore back. As soon as I felt the symptoms I would take a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills because they can't be beaten for rheumatism and sore back. I am 73 years old and can pick potatoes all day with any man."

"I have also used Dodd's Kidney Pills for urinary troubles with great success."

Dodd's Kidney Pills have built up their reputation on the good work they have done in the past.

NOORDERDYK OVER WEEK BEHIND TIME FROM OLD COUNTRY

Over a week behind schedule, the Holland-America liner Noorderdyk will not arrive from the United Kingdom until the end of this week, at least, according to A. P. Moffat, local agent. No advice has been received of the vessel leaving San Francisco and it is expected it will be Friday or Saturday at the earliest before she arrives. She was due November 15.

MEN RESCUED FROM TANKER WRECKAGE

Fifteen Sailors Who Were Drifting on Ss. Georgia Taken Off by Lifeboat

London, Nov. 23.—Fifteen men who had clung to the wreckage of the Dutch tanker Georgia since Monday, were snatched from death in the raging North Sea last night by a lifeboat from the coastal town of Cromer.

The Georgia, beaten by violent seas, broke in two Monday. Fifteen of the crew were rescued by a steamer, but fifteen others remained on the fore part of the ship, which was grounded on the Halibut Bank.

All of Tuesday lifeboats along the Norfolk coast battled with the waves trying to effect a rescue, while folk along the shore feared a tragedy. As night fell the wind and waves subsided somewhat, and a crew manoeuvre, succeeded in reaching the wreck and taking off all of the exhausted sailors.

NORWEGIAN VESSEL WILL BE DRYDOCKED

On her way to the Fraser River to load, the Norwegian freighter Estrella will arrive here Saturday night and will go into the new drydock Friday morning, according to advice received by King Brothers, local agents for the vessel. The vessel will undergo cleaning and painting while docked.

The British freighter Highgate, which arrived last week, is still in the drydock. In addition to the cleaning of her hull, several minor repairs are being carried out by Yarrows Limited. She will probably be released from the dock this week.

Other ship repairs now progressing include the C.P.R. coastwise steamer Princess Royal, which is at the Victoria Machinery Depot. She went up on the ways yesterday and is undergoing a general overhaul in addition to hull repairs and tailshaft inspection.

The new boat, a model of luxury, with accommodations for thirteen passengers and a crew of six, is the first high-speed pleasure yacht of its size to be equipped with Diesel engines.

New Vessel For Panama Pacific Line Will Be Same Type as New Ss. California

Word was received this week by R. J. Griffiths, North Pacific Coast manager of the International Mercantile Marine Company, that the keel of the company's second ship for the Panama-Pacific Line, a companion to the California, the largest steamship yet built in an American yard, has been laid on the same ways at Newport News from which the California was launched October 1.

Fabrication of frames and plates for the new vessel has been going on for some months, and construction of the hull is expected to progress rapidly. The vessel should be ready for launching in thirteen months. It is probable that she will be named the Virginia.

She will be practically a counterpart of the California, and will have the same form of propulsion, turbo-electric drive, with oil-fuel boilers, twin driving motors, which are rated at 17,000 horsepower, are practically completed at Schenectady, N. Y.

The California will be ready for delivery to her owners on January 15, and is scheduled to sail from New York to the Pacific Coast on her first voyage January 28. It is stated that her first-class passenger accommodation for this voyage already has been sold or is under option, and that bookings are heavy for the tourist class accommodation. She will carry 751 passengers.

Compared with gasoline motors, these engines save about 65 per cent in fuel cost and 50 per cent on insurance—the latter due to increased safety.

The "Malina" came from Germany via Halifax under her own power. Its three engines weigh only 3500 pounds each, and operate at a running cost of $2.50 per hour. The fuel used is crude oil. The economy is achieved by the new type of motive power.

Government Investigation Of Coast Salmon Fishing Now Practically Assured

Vancouver, Nov. 23.—A government investigation of salmon fishing conditions is practically assured according to a delegation of Vancouver cannermen who returned Tuesday from a conference with the department of marine and fisheries at Ottawa.

An announcement as to the manner of investigation whether it will be a royal commission, departmental inquiry or an inspection by W. A. Pound, the director-general of fisheries now on the coast, is expected some time this week the delegates reported.

G. A. Birks, C. C. Thomas and R. Gosse, Vancouver cannermen, comprised the delegation.

W. M. NEAL INSPECTS KETTLE VALLEY ROAD

Vancouver, Nov. 23.—W. M. Neal, general manager of the Canadian Pacific western lines, is today inspecting the Kettle Valley Road, and it is expected here that an announcement will be made shortly respecting what action will be taken in the matter of the Coquihalla divide of the line, the scene of recent slides and tunnel collapses.

Before leaving Vancouver Tuesday, Neal made a tour of the British Columbia tour, Mr. Neal denied that suspension of the Coquihalla line was being considered, and stated that the obstructions were being removed with a view to resuming operations. The western manager will return to Winnipeg via Calgary and Edmonton.

Rates For Seattle Wheat Dryers Set

Seattle, Nov. 23.—The Seattle port commission yesterday fixed rates for its newly-installed wheat dryers, the only ones in an American Pacific Northwest port, which will be in operation about December 15. The rates indicate that heavy consignments of wheat will be run through the dryers, which have a capacity of 1,200 bushels per hour; over three per cent and up to seven per cent $3. over seven per cent $4.

With her entire refrigerator cargo booked to capacity with apples from Seattle and Portland for Scandinavian markets, the Norway Pacific Line Ms. Ben Franklin is due here December 2 on her first trip to this port.

The Junyo Maru, a Mitsui carrier, came here yesterday for repairs to her forward cargo mast, which buckled while lifting lumber at Everett. After repairs she will complete at Puget Sound ports sailing for the Orient December 1.

Taiyo Maru Will Go Into Drydock

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—The N.Y.K. liner Taiyo Maru, which sailed from here yesterday for the Orient, will proceed only as far as Nagasaki, where the vessel will be drydocked for her annual inspection and overhauling, company officials announced.

The 25 passengers will be transferred to other liners to proceed to their destinations. The drydocking of the vessel will not interfere with its schedule.

Among the passengers was Richard Soriano, one of the leading oil merchants of the Orient.

Capt. L. H. Westdahl, port captain for the Dollar Line, with headquarters here, has been temporarily transferred to New York. It was announced at the office of the line yesterday, Capt. Westdahl has been in the East for some time, and he will remain there until such time as the shore office organization of the company has been changed to meet present requirements.

The transfer of Capt. Westdahl is looked upon in shipping circles as the start of a series of changes in the entire Dollar organization.

The Matsun liner Manoa arrived here today from Honolulu. After discharging she will proceed to drydock for extensive repairs and alterations of her passenger accommodations.

here all night long. Perhaps, tomorrow, we will let you out so you can play." By this time everything was black. and Clowdy, flopped upon his back, said, "Good night, bunch, and pleasant dreams while in your slumber deep." The others all replied, "Good night," and then each little Tynymite, just cuddled up and closed his eyes, and soon was fast asleep.

"Hey, hey! Wake up!" The voice rang loud and startled all the Tiny crowd. The night had gone and day had come. The cave was light again. A Buddy's voice from above said, "We've got something you will love."

It's something that we Buddies have for breakfast, now and then." Said Carpy, "That sounds good to me. I'm just as hungry as can be." Then, little bowls of breakfast food were lowered to the bunch. The Tynies started in to eat and found it really was a treat. Said Carpy, "Gee, I hope we have this same good dish for lunch." (The Bad Buddies put Clowdy to work in the next story.)

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1927

Through this day benefic aspects are strongly dominant, according to astrology which reads in the stars many pleasant auguries.

Although there may be a tendency toward irritability and nervousness in the morning, the hours later tend to bring pleasant memories and interesting associations.

The day may bring introspection and fleeting sadness to women, who recall past griefs, but it should be most helpful in all its influences.

There is a rule read as forbidding to relatives who insist on remembering one another's ages as quarrels are easily precipitated under this way.

Uranus is in a place making for inspiration through meeting with friends, but romance may not flourish while this configuration prevails.

This is read as a most auspicious rule for the selection or presentation of gifts.

Under this planetary government the greatest benefits may accrue from visits to relatives, especially to the aged.

It is not a really fortunate wedding day, since it is read as encouraging faultfinding on the part of parents.

All the influences are promising for rest and recreation. The evening is an auspicious time for entertaining celebrities and persons of various degrees of prominence.

Dangers to the nation are foreseen by the seers who earnest kindness in judging foreign policies.

To-day is an auspicious one for the President of the United States and his family, who should enjoy some special honor.

Food prices, which will continue to rise, may be exceedingly unsatisfactory to all but the wealthy, it is foretold.

Persons whose birthdate it is probably will experience a great change for the better in the coming year. Public affairs may affect the fortunes.

Children born on this day probably will be successful all through life. Special care of the eyesight should be maintained. Girls may not marry.

The Tynies, captives in the cave, looked up and saw the Buddies wave.

Then one exclaimed, "Don't worry, now. We're watching over you. No harm can come while we are here, so none of you have cause to fear." Then, down the Tynies sat 'cause there was nothing else to do.

The hole above let in some light, but now 'twas drawing near to night, and as the dusk fell, Scouty said, "Oh, let's not be forlorn. At least with shelter we are blessed. We might as well all get some rest. Then we will be in trim to face what happens in the morn."

So, all the Tynymites stretched out, and then they heard a shrill voice shout, "We Buddies hope you all sleep well until another day. Remember, nothing can go wrong, for we'll be up

Home-made Remedy Stops Cough Quickly

Finest cough medicine you ever used.
Family supply easily made.
Cures about 82.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant—children like it, and it is pure and good.

Four 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex in a 16-oz. bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Thus you make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly breaks the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid, too, for bronchitis, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract and palatable guaiac, famous for healing the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or your money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Thanksgiving

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Gathered in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow were all his own little rabbits, including Baby Bunty, together with every boy and girl animal who had come to the icicle party. Each one hoped to win a prize, either for the longest icicle, for the shortest or for the icicle that looked the funniest. But Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow were not with the others at the party, and when Uncle Wiggily asked why, then, all of a sudden, Tommie Kat heard a noise up on the bungalow roof.
"Maybe it's the Bob Cat!" Tommie had meowed.

"Perhaps it was," agreed the rabbit gentleman. "But thumps and thuds make no soap suds so these will never harm us. Go on with the party. I will see who has the longest icicle, who has the smallest and which one of you has brought the funniest icicle for the toy balloon prize."

"Oh, but aren't you going to see what made that noise?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzey, who was busy helping Mr. Longears cut the cake for the party guests.

"Perhaps I had better," agreed Uncle Wiggily. "Stay here, all of you, if he told the children, 'I'll go out and see what made the thuds.'"

He told the animal children to remain in the bungalow for fear, after all, that the Bob Cat might be lurking around.

The moon was shining bright on this cold and frosty night, when Uncle Wiggily gave his icicle party. And he stood upon a milk bottle, and he shouted "Zoopie! Whoop! You can't scare me by hiding there, you smartie!"

For as the rabbit gentleman looked around the corner of his bungalow, he saw a funny shape, or, rather, two funny shapes huddled down in the weeds. And Mr. Longears thought it was the Bob Cat trying to be a smartie and play a trick.

But when the two queer things down in the weeds did not move and when Nurse Jane brought out a lantern of fireflies in a milk bottle, Uncle Wiggily saw what the shapes were.

"Why, they're funny icicles!" cried the rabbit gentleman. "Oh, what funny icicles! Any of the children had brought them into my party these icicles would surely have won the toy balloon prize. I never saw such funny shaped ones!"

"No!" squeaked the muskrat lady. They're shaped just like two puppy dogs one standing on his head and the other on his tail."

And when the funny chunks of ice were rolled into the warm bungalow and the ice began to melt, Baby Bunty shouted:

"Why, they're Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow! The puppy dogs are inside the funny icicles!"

And so they were, and as soon as the ice had thawed off them Jackie and Peetie told what had happened. They wanted to win a prize for the largest icicle. So they climbed up on Uncle Wiggily's roof with a pitcher of water. They intended to let water dribble over the edge of the roof and freeze into icicle icicles, for the night was cold.

"But Jackie slipped and fell," barked Peetie. "He rolled off the roof and the pitcher of water upset and splashed on us and we got all wet and we froze that way!"

"That's what made the thumping sounds!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "Well, Jackie, I'll give you and your brother each a balloon prize for having the two funniest icicles! And Baby Bunty won the story book prize for bringing the smallest icicle. It was the size of a pin. In fact Baby Bunty wet a pin with water and stuck it in the window sill outside to freeze. So she made the tiniest wee-est icicle you ever saw."

Neddie Stubtail, the boy bear, who had not yet rolled off for his long winter sleep, got the prize of a picture book for having the longest icicle. It was as long as a rake handle. And every one said Jackie and Peetie, frozen into icicles, were the funniest ever seen.

So the party went on and every one had a jolly time, until, all of a sudden, Nurse Jane said:

"Oh, to-morrow is Thanksgiving! What are you thankful for, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Ah," murmured the rabbit gentleman. "I'm thankful there was no Bob Cat up on the roof to-night. I'm glad it was Jackie and Peetie. Every one has a good time. And now if the loaf of bread doesn't hide in the cake box, where the butter can't find it, I'll tell you another story."

The BLUE CAR MYSTERY

By NATALIE SUMNER LINCOLN

Just then a Ford, which had jammed in ahead of Terry, turned into a side street. It was Terry's opportunity and he seized it. As if shot out of a cannon he swept up behind the other car, his lights playing full on the license tag.

"Good Lord!" he gasped. "We are chasing the wrong car—"

"I'm sure we are not," vehemently. "Oh, Mr. Terry, go on, we must catch that thief!"

"That's a government tag number—'130,' called out Harriet. 'What of it?'"

"That's a government tag number—it is one of the White House cars."

"Then it might not be a White House car after all," she said. "It might belong to any Government Department or Federal Official."

"Yes," doubtfully. "But my recollection is that that particular number belongs to the Chief Executive; he has quite a string of cars."

"I suppose so," Harriet spoke flatteringly; all at once she felt unstrung and unsteady. In deciphering what she felt intuitively was a code, had her discovery any bearing whatever on the murder of her uncle and the loss of the bonds?

There had been no opportunity to reason before the papers were snatched from her.

Snatched from her—by whom? Who was there at Walter Reed's so opportunely? She had not heard any one approach the coupe and had realized that some one was beside the door only a second before the theft of the papers. If she had only looked up instead of continuing to puzzle over the cipher! Then the thief's identity would have been disclosed. Tears of bitter regret rose very near Harriet's eyes and she bit her lips to still her quivering—she would not cry.

"Did you tell any one at home that you were coming out to the Cathedral after me, Mr. Terry?" she asked suddenly.

Terry's foot pressed more heavily on the accelerator as he saw the blocks ahead of him clear of traffic, and she coupe shot forward.

"I believe I asked Anna where I could find you," he said, driving in the centre of the avenue, waving most of the snow had been cleared away.

"She was the only person I talked to on the phone," he looked sideways at her. "Were the stolen papers very valuable?"

"Yes," she replied. As she met his attentive regard and noted his clear-cut features and aristocratic bearing she came to an impulsive decision.

"Mr. Terry, I—I'm speaking in confidence—"

He leaned closer until his shoulder touched hers. "Miss Whitney," speaking softly, while turning his head so as to look straight before him. "Please believe me, I promise never to repeat what you tell me."

"Thanks, so much," with a shyly trusting glance, which he missed entirely. "Last night, among Uncle Jim's papers, I found the key to the cipher."

"Cipher?" he echoed, as they whirled around a corner. "Hello! What's up?" Their four-wheel skates, hastily applied, brought the coupe to a halt—most on top of a small group of people congregated about a stalled car. One of them hurried to Terry's side as the latter opened his door.

"Could you help us pull my car to the curb?" an agitated voice asked, and Terry looked down into a pair of pretty blue eyes. "We are stuck tight in the way of traffic and father has gone to call up the A. A. headquarters for their service wagon."

Terry was in the street before she had finished speaking.

"I'll be right back," he called to Harriet. Leaning out of her side of the car, the latter watched Terry's efforts, assisted by two women and one youth, to shove the heavy touring car over the high snowdrift to the curb; it was finally accomplished and Harriet sat back and awaited Terry's return with growing impatience. It was getting past her dinner hour and—

"The gentleman sent me to get his electric torch," annotated the thin youth, appearing suddenly at the left hand door, which Terry had failed to close. "He dropped a key or something out of his pocket when he took off his coat."

Harriet looked hastily around the coupe. "I don't see any torch—"

"He said 'twas in the little compartment' front, by the seat under the dash—"

Harriet glanced down on her right, and for the first time saw a leather flap on the side of the car fastened securely with a button. When the seat she was occupying was folded back into place it completely hid the compartment from view. The button was extremely stiff, and while Harriet was attempting to turn it, the youth came around to her assistance.

"Here 'tis," he exclaimed, as the flap swung back, disclosing a metal torch, and with an impatient tug pulled it loose from its tight resting place.

Harriet never noticed his departure. If the small cavity had contained the far-famed Medusa's head she could not have been more completely paralyzed. Dragged upward by the rough removal of the torch, half out of the compartment, lay a glove—the fingers had assumed an almost lifelike pose; palm upward, they dropped down, all except one—that one, the middle finger, she herself, had stretched firmly to the line of the palm.

Harriet broke out into a cold perspiration. Unable to repress a shudder, she stooped over, picked up the glove and stuffed it in the inside pocket of her coat, taking the precaution to close the flap of the compartment and snap the button securely. Terry joined her a few minutes later.

"Awfully sorry to have kept you waiting," he said, apologetically, laying the torch on the ledge back of the every one said Jackie and Peetie, frozen into icicles, were the funniest ever seen.

"I carelessly dropped this key here, let me give it to you now, before I lose it again."

Harriet actually jumped when the cold metal touched her skin as Terry laid the key in her hand.

"What do you mean?" she asked to utter bewilderment as he started the engine.

"Why, your brother's old nurse at Walter Reed asked me to hand it to you," explained Terry. "One said, by mistake, she had mailed one of her keys to you, and now you see it. And now if you dropped while you were visiting your brother on New Year's afternoon—"

"Oh!" Harriet stared at him astounded; then her bewilderment changed to incredulous, almost delirious delight; with difficulty she repressed her feelings. So the key which had disappeared so mysteriously from her bag after the inquest, was not hers! With great pains and a sense of vast relief she stowed the regained key in the inner pocket of her head bag. Then quickly her thoughts switched to another and still unsolved problem. How came that glove in Ned Terry's car, of all places in the world?

"You started to tell me a moment back of some cipher," prompted Terry gently, as her silence continued, and he wondered that he got no answer.

Harriet's whirling senses took in gradually what he had said. Tell him of the cipher? The question was a mockery of her thoughts. Suppose—suppose it was Ned Terry who had stolen the coded message from her? Who else knew of her presence at Walter Reed, except him? He could have stood watching her, biding his time to snatch the papers, then circled the bushes and approached her unconcernedly a few minutes later.

"Pshaw! What ridiculous reasoning! What possible motive could connect Terry with the murder of her uncle and the loss of the bonds? Harriet caught her breath—Terry was the one person who knew of her uncle having the bonds in the library on New Year's eve; he knew how to get them, and where to find them—suppose he was in league with—with—Harriet's teeth were actually chattering. The code, a fine method of communication without risk of detection, but the glove—how could he explain its presence in her car?

"Here we are, Miss Whitney," and reaching behind Harriet, Terry opened the door for her—"I'm afraid you are half frozen," observing how stiffly she moved.

"I've been sitting still so long," she murmured, rather than spoke. "Please don't get out."

Paying no the slightest attention to her remonstrances, Terry sprang to the pavement, first picking up the small bundle of clothing he had brought from the hospital. With tender care he helped her up the steps to the portico and put the bundle down at her feet.

"Won't you come in?" she asked. "I can't thank you, I have an important dinner engagement at the club which I cannot break. He caught her by both shoulders; only by a supreme effort did he refrain from taking her in his arms—his heart was pounding like a trip hammer."

"Harriet! Neither noticed his use of her first name, nor a small figure standing half concealed by one of the white pillars of the portico. "Promise to call on me at any hour of the day or night if I can serve you; promise."

"I will," she stammered. "That is, I—"

"She swayed dizzily. "Go, oh, please, go—"

"Come back—"

His hands slipped around her shoulders and she was drawn into his embrace; the pressure of her soft lips was like nectar to a soul in purgatory. With heart pounding against heart, he showered kisses on her brow, her eyes and again upon her lips, then freed herself from his loosening grasp. She spun around and raced down the terrace steps and into his car.

Hell was created for punishment of sins, the Bible tells us, so don't take these puzzles too seriously. From SINS to HELL is a par six. Par solution is printed on page 20.

GIN PILLS FOR THE KIDNEYS

The Answer

Here is one solution to the letter golf puzzle on page 19.

Hopes For Diabetes Cure Expressed

Vienna, Nov. 23.—Complete cure for diabetes is probable through enervation of the kidney annex plan by an operation, in the opinion of Professor Ciminatti, Italian physiologist. The professor expressed his opinion before the Vienna Biological Society last night. He said his experiment on dogs had produced favorable evidence. Removal of the secondary kidney prevented the secretion of adrenalin, he said, which was one of the most powerful astringents known.

W. J. Burns, No Respector of Persons Finds Way Into Scandal Spotlight

Washington, Nov. 23.—The blow-up of the Fall-Sinclair trial turned the spotlight on more peculiar situations and circumstances than any incident in Washington since the Teapot Dome, Doherty and Daugherty scandals were first uncovered.

For instance, it brought that most astonishing person, William J. Burns, back into the stocks of notoriety. Only one brief sequence of events is needed to show that the Burns career has been without parallel. In 1912, it was revealed that Burns had been involved in the picking of a jury which convicted a man named Jones. In pardoning Jones, President Taft accepted the conclusion of Attorney General Wickham about Burns' activities and referred to them as "the most barefaced and unfair use of all the machinery for drawing a jury" which he had ever encountered.

Yet, when Harding became president and Daugherty was named attorney general, Burns was put in an extremely important position of trust as head of the investigation bureau of the Department of Justice.

Now we have Burns, again a private detective, involved as an employer of men whom the government charges were used in a plot to influence the Fall-Sinclair case.

Burns never was a respecter of persons. The attempts of his bureau to "get something on" senators who sought to expose corruption in the Interior of Justice Departments should be recalled. Investigation of Department of Justice files during the Senate inquiries revealed some half-raising sleights on methods and results of the Justice Department's attempts to "get something on" others, little of which was never publicly exposed, because of the prominence of persons concerned.

Now, as a grand jury investigates the Fall-Sinclair trial fiasco, the government reveals that a Burns man shadowed and reported on an assistant attorney general of the United States while his comrades were trying to establish contact with jurors. It is charged that one of Fall's counsel used another department official to investigate this assistant.

The question continues to be asked why as many as sixteen men were trusted with the very delicate job of jury shadowing, with apparent disregard of the possibility that one or more might spill the beans. It seems obvious that if anyone was trying to tamper with the jury, such a method would indicate either sheer desperation or not a difference as to whether or not a mistrial was desired.

Your correspondent talked for half an hour with Henry Mason Day, now under $25,000 bond as an alleged fixer, before he went before the grand jury. Day is a tall, almost awarthy, apparently powerful and sartorially immaculate man of the world, not cultured but suave. He seemed alternately steady or penetrating and boyishly naive. One felt that one would rather have Day as a friend than an enemy. His official title is vice-president of the Sinclair Exploration Co., an organization of Sinclair geologists. Day is not a geologist; he is much more.

One gathers that Day is commander-in-chief of Sinclair's foreign forces, a fixer, as it were, who has mixed with cabinet members in various parts of the world where there is oil or interest in it. He has represented Sinclair in the latter's bids for vast fortunes in oil. For instance, Sinclair left him in Russia in 1923 to negotiate a huge concession from the Soviet government. Until a few days ago, Day was better known in Europe and Asia than in the United States. He is devoted to Sinclair.

If the government proves any of its charges, the charges against Sinclair or Day, the question will promptly arise as to what the jury-fixing rates would have been had the plot gone through. Day hired a chauffeur for Sinclair at wages of $27 a day, and when taken into consideration along with the large sums paid for wages and expenses of the detectives, that fact would indicate that plenty of money was available for the purpose or another.

MASSED HIGHLAND BANDS LED UNIT

Canadian Scottish Marched Through City Streets Last Night

Led by pipe and brass bands, and the junior pipe band, the 16th Battalion Canadian Scottish Regiment paraded from the armory last night, four companies strong, together with medical and signaling units.

Col. D. B. Martyn, D.S.O., M.C., officer commanding the battalion, headed the line of march.

Hon. W. C. Nichol, honorary colonel of the regiment, was to have taken the salute of the kilted battalion as it swung along Douglas Street last night, but indisposition prevented this. Since the parade had been announced and was being anticipated by many with considerable interest, Colonel Martyn did not hesitate to lead out his regiment.

The route of the parade was along

Have You Acid Scalp?

If your hair won't keep the simplest wave for several days, there is probably too much acidity. A condition that causes hair to be stubbornly straight and stringy, and to lack all lustre. Acid scalp.

From the hour you check this excessive acidity your hair will act and appear very different. It will arrange easily in any style that becomes, for it will have lovely softness, and all the sheen all healthy hair normally has. Dandruff will neutralize the acid, and dandruff dissolve every particle of dandruff scale. Your hair won't need anything else to keep it fresh, wholesome, and free from the least objectionable taint that is too often noticed in otherwise fastidious women. All dandruff sells for only thirty-five cents at any drugstore, and as only a few drops on comb or towel will do the work, a bottle lasts for weeks! (Adv.)
